Resort Area Blaze Called Deliberate

COMBINED AP & UPI

Cautious vacationers and residents were returning to fire-blackened areas in Northern and Central California today after three major forest fires raced over more than 22,000 acres since Sunday.

A State Division of Forestry spokesman said the biggest of the blazes—9,500 acres in the Cobb Mountain area near Hoberg's Resort south of Clear Lake—was apparently set deliberately.

It destroyed 14 homes, two ranch buildings, five hunting camps and a pickup truck. No injuries were reported.

Authorities expect full containment of the 10-mile long blaze today, barring new eruptions.

Forestry officials claimed virtual control over a three-day brush and timber fire that burned 7,000 acres and caused an estimated one million dollars in damage in the Redding area.

The forestry division planned to cut its 1,500-man fire fighting force in half today in anticipation of completely controlling the blaze by nightfall.

"If we get through the day without any difficulty we'll call it controlled," a spokesman said. "We haven't seen any flames for 12 hours and there's just a little bit of smoke coming up. The fire has stopped."

The fire broke out in the rugged mountain region near Lake Shasta Sunday, probably from an automobile exhaust spark. Damage to watershed was estimated at about $750,000, and timber loss was at least $250,000. Only one cabin was burned.

Cold air coupled with lack of wind aided fire crews last night.

Two Sierra foothill fires which swept through more than 9,000 acres of brush and timber were expected to be under control by late today.

The Bowers fire which erupted near Bootjack in Mariposa County Monday was contained yesterday after scorching 7,800 acres. The Lockwood fire 20 miles northeast of Fresno swept through 1,340 acres yesterday before the flames were halted.

FIRE HAZARD SLACKS OFF FOR COUNTY

The extreme fire hazard in Marin County slacked off today as the morning fog brought the normal amount of moisture back into the air.

A low humidity reading reading yesterday combined with the high temperatures of the preceding day boosted the fire hazard in Marin and caused fire officials to warn against incinerator and barbecue burning.

The cooling trend, which began yesterday, will continue for the next five days with temperatures below normal, the weather bureau said.

Southland Flames Still Are Menace

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Some 1,300 fire fighters, assisted by bulldozers and borate bombers, fought a massive holding action today against two giant brush blazes and prevented them from joining and spreading to more inhabited areas.

The two blazes which started yesterday afternoon almost simultaneously had charred more than 16,500 acres by 9 o'clock this morning, destroying a $100,000 clinical building at Olive View Sanitorium, and some 30 ranch buildings including most of cowboy singer Gene Autry's famed Melody Ranch, scene of many movie and television films.

The fires were about 30 miles north of downtown Los Angeles.

A half dozen fire fighters suffered minor injuries such as sprained ankles and slight burns but no serious cases were reported.

Perimeters of the two fires —one in the Newhall-Placerita Canyon area and the other in the Castaic-Hasley Canyon area—were only four miles apart but there seemed no immediate danger of a junction.

A county fire department spokesman pointed out that the blazes were separated by U.S. 99, a four-lane highway, and added, "unless things really go bad, I don't think there's a possibility of the fires joining."

The perimeter of the Newhall fire was about 27 miles and the Castaic blaze encompassed a 25 miles perimeter.

Bulldozers and men using shovels and sacks were concentrated on the southern edge of the Castaic blaze and set up fire breaks which averted a threat to suburban Chatsworth.

Hottest spot in the blaze during the night was at the east end of the Newhall blaze in and around Los Pinetos Peak. This phase of the fire spilled over into Whitney Canyon and a major segment of the fire fighting force was concentrated there.

Gusty winds, low humidity and temperatures rising above 90 degrees caused fire officials great concern and no one

Man-Caused Fires In Marin Increase Over Last Year

Man-caused grass fires in Marin County exceed last year's in number at this same period, but less acreage has been destroyed.

This year the county has fought 258 fires, 101 of which were grass fires; last year in late August, 225 fires had been reported, 87 of which burned grass, brush and trees, County Chief Louis L. Bloom said today, adding that only 299 acres have been burned this year compared to last year's 344.

He pointed out that probably more than 90 per cent of these fires are man-caused.

Throughout California man-caused range and forest fires are occurring at about the same rate as last year, but the rate is still 12 per cent higher than the average of the last five years, according to a mid-August compilation prepared by Keep California Green, Inc.

Like Marin's damage in acreage throughout the state is also below that for the comparable 1961 period. There have been 2,147 man-caused fires this year, and there were 2,164 last year. But this year 42,000 acres have been burned compared to 216,500 last year at this time.

The Keep Green organization cautioned against over-optimism: last Labor Day weekend about 100,000 acres were damaged, and nearly all by careless travelers.

SWIMMERS BEWARE!

Man-Eater Shark Caught In Marin

Swimmers beware—man-eater sharks are back in Tomales Bay.

Fisherman Tony Konatich and his son, Felix Konatich, out of Marshall on their 40 foot boat, caught two 11-foot sharks in their halibut net yesterday morning. They got a rope around the tail of one and hauled it aboard, but the other lashed a big hole in the net and got away.

The Konatichs were fishing just north of Hog Island near the mouth of Tomales Bay.

Felix and his father operate Tony's Restaurant in Marshall. Their big catch was sprawled on a dolly in front of the restaurant today, attracting tourists and making Highway 1 motorists slam on their brakes to stare at the big fish.

Felix Konatich said the big, slate gray shark weighs at least 1,000 pounds. It was too heavy to lift on his scales for accurate weighing.

He said the beast is a white shark or man-eater, the kind that has killed skin divers and swimmers on the California Coast in recent summers. With the presence of the sharks, Konatich considers the beaches on the south side of Tomales Bay from Inverness north extremely dangerous.

"I wouldn't like to be swimming over on those beaches right now," he said. "These sharks go after anything that moves."

The Konatichs have caught other sharks in recent summers. Biggest was a 22-foot basking shark, not considered nearly as dangerous as the white shark.

On the boat yesterday when the shark was caught were Felix' sons, Johnny, 10, and Anton, 9.

"We helped catch it," Johnny said proudly.

Novato Gives Up 'K' Bypass Around City

Novato city councilmen last night voted 3 to 2 to give up the Highway 101 "K" bypass route they've held out for and allow construction of an interchange at Highway 101 and Highway 37 (the Black Point cutoff) to begin.

Construction could begin within two months, the council was told by R. A. Hayler, district engineer from the San Francisco office of the State Division of Highways.

The council learned that a final decision on which route the highway commission will choose for the new freeway bypass could be made by the end of December.

Hayler said the division of highways will set a hearing for late September in Novato so

Candidate Richardson Says Support Growing

Dr. Ralph Richardson, candidate for the office of state superintendent of public instruction, arrived in Novato at 4 p.m. yesterday to open his campaign office and was greeted by a gathering of school administrators from throughout Marin.

Richardson visited briefly with campaign workers there, told them he is gaining support from school officials throughout the state and hurried on to receptions in San Rafael and an appearance at the Sausalito City Council meeting.

Richardson announced in Novato he has obtained the support of Richard Foster of Greenbrae, former campaign manager for Wallace Hall of Belvedere, an unsuccessful candidate for the state post.

Richardson denied charges by opponent Dr. Max Rafferty that he has received money from Democratic organizations. "I have taken money from individual Democrats," he said, "but not money from organized Democratic groups." He declined to say how much.

"My opponent has said that if I am elected, I will seduce the children in the state and soon there will be no Republicans left in California. Speaking like that is ridiculous nonsense."

"My concern is with all children on all levels. As I understand him (Rafferty) he is focusing on children on higher intellectual levels and showing a disregard for the average and below average children."

Richardson said one of the first changes he would make in the State Department of Education is a "major reorganization," including hiring of persons to do research on education, a "task force" of educational, administrative and legislative leaders and the hiring of a management consultant agency.

Chester Carlisle, Tamalpais Union High School District superintendent, introduced Richardson in both San Rafael and Sausalito, with Alfred Azevedo of Tiburon assisting in San Rafael and Paul Stanley in Sausalito.

Richardson told his San Rafael audience of about 40 in the

Controversial subjects should be studied "in depth," he said, but there "is a constant need to see that the teaching is as objective as humanly possible."

Dick Garibaldi New Santa Clara Coach

SANTA CLARA (AP) — Former star player Dick Garibaldi today was named head basketball coach at his alma mater, the University of Santa Clara.

Garibaldi succeeds Bob Feerick who resigned as coach and athletic director to become coach of the new professional San Francisco Warriors in the National Basketball Association.

Garibaldi's younger brother, Bob, recently signed a bonus contract with the San Francisco Giants baseball team at an estimated $150,000.

School Starts In Sausalito

More than 1,000 youngsters flocked back to the four schools in the Sausalito School District today to become the first pupils to return to their studies in Marin's public schools.

Walking and in buses, they came from as far as Fort Cronkhite on the Pacific Ocean and Marin City on Richardson Bay. There was no balking, according to Supt. Marcus F. Davis, other than the usual crying from a few kindergarters unwilling to leave their mothers.

The schools were ordered to open early by the school district's trustees so children would be "exposed to more learning." The district has 183 teaching days, four more than the county requirement.

REED IS TARGET

Carlisle Tears Into Critics Of Tam Board

The Tamalpais Union High School District superintendent today discarded his prepared "state of the district" message to teachers and made an off-the-cuff talk lambasting persons who, he said, had assailed the integrity of the district board.

Supt. Chester G. Carlisle addressed about 250 teachers, including 45 new ones, for Sir Francis Drake, Redwood and Tamalpais High Schools. The annual professional staff meeting was held at the Drake Little Theater.

Though he did not name them, it was clear that Carlisle was assailing members of the Reed Union School District board for their campaign to get the Tam board to pick a high school site on the Tiburon Peninsula.

"I have had something on my mind for several weeks," Carlisle said. He said it was traditional at this time to review the state of the district but he wished to lay this aside to review expansion in recent years.

Carlisle said that in 1960 the board estimated costs at 6.2 million dollars but at behest of a citizens group reduced this to 3 million, which was approved as a bond issue April 18, 1961.

He said the bonds provided for expansion of the three existing high schools and selection of site for a fourth school. Expansion of the old schools left $604,100 for the site, he said.

At that time no one could accurately predict the development of communities within the district and there was no new location, Carlisle said.

Carlisle said the northern site at Lagunitas was a good site, low-priced, available and in the area of greatest population expansion.

He said it appeared the board might not necessarily favor the location for a southern site (the hilltop area of Tiburon Peninsula) recommended by the county planning staff's Tiburon Peninsula master plan.

In recent months Reed Union School District trustees have pressed the board to make an early site selection on the Tiburon Peninsula but have not recommended a specific site.

Loma Verde Fire Blamed On Cigarette

Fire blamed on a cigarette burned eight acres at the Loma Verde service road and Highway 101 yesterday afternoon.

"The humidity was low and the fire burned hard, deep and fast," said Novato Fire Chief George Cavallero. He said at times he wondered if water would ever put it out.

The fire started beside the service road at 4:35 p.m., according to the chief. The warm, strong wind fanned the flames in and around the state-owned buildings which are to be removed for the Ignacio interchange on Highway 101. None of the buildings were damaged, Cavallero said.

The Novato Fire District sent five trucks and 34 men to fight the fire. Cavallero called on Hamilton Air Force base which sent an additional three trucks and 10 men to the fire.

The fire was not completely controlled until after 7 p.m., when the last of the men and trucks were called back from the grass and brush fire, Cavallero stated.

Works Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (AP)—By voice vote, the House today passed a key part of the Kennedy economic program, a 900-million-dollar emergency public works bill.

Stinson Water Ballot Slated

Stinson Beach residents will vote Nov. 6 on establishment of a new water district as result of approval voted by county supervisors yesterday.

Hugh Dougherty, chairman of a sanitation committee of the Stinson Beach Progressive Club, said the movement for this has been under way for two years as result of a survey disclosing community-wide need.

At one time, he said, it was expected that Bolinas would be included but "some opposition developed so it was decided to go our own way." Boundaries recently approved take in as much of the watershed as can be managed without inclusion of the Bolinas Peninsula, he said.

"We seek to prevent a multiplicity of small plants and fill

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Heavy Storm Hits Louisiana Town

CAMERON, La. (AP)—This Louisiana coastal town—where nearly 500 persons died in a 1957 hurricane—was struck by a roaring storm last night. Three fatalities were reported and sheriff's deputies said the death toll may go higher.

Nearly 30 persons were reported injured.

Heavy rains accompanied the storm, believed to be a tornado. Streets in Cameron were flooded. The water—as high as the floorboard of a car—had stopped rising early today.

The Weather Bureau said nearly eight inches of rain fell on Cameron within a six-hour period.

Hoover Is Resting Well

NEW YORK (AP)—Herbert Hoover's doctors say it may take some time to determine the nature of an intestinal growth removed in a three-hour operation. An announcement is not expected for two or three weeks.

Hoover, at 88 the nation's eldest former president, was reported resting comfortably in his suite at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center. The hospital said he withstood the surgery well.

Ben Bella Picks Up Some Support

ALGIERS (AP)—Four of Algeria's six guerrilla commands and the regular army's general staff were lined up today in support of Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's bid for control of the new nation.

The military leaders left up to Ben Bella's Political Bureau the decision of whether to use force to quell the rebellious guerrilla commands in Algiers and the Kabylie Mountains.

Col. Houari Boumedienne, the regular army chief of staff, publicly threw the support of his 45,000 troops to the Political Bureau yesterday.

Train Kills Three

ZARAH, Kan. (AP) — A speeding Santa Fe freight train plowed into a gang of track workers yesterday, killing three and injuring two others in the 12-man gang.

"It is possible the crew did not hear the oncoming train as the motor of their work car was running," said a Santa Fe official.

Soblen Plea

LONDON (AP) — Lawyers for Dr. Robert A. Soblen began today their fourth fight in British Courts to save the fugitive spy from deportation to the United States and a life sentence.

The 61-year-old psychiatrist and a team of four lawyers went into the Appeal Court to appeal the High Court's refusal last Friday to free him on a writ of habeas corpus.

Border Closed

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China closed its border with Hong Kong today minutes after a bomb exploded on the Chinese side of the border station at Shumchun.

The British closed off their side of the border immediately after.

The explosion was the seventh in a series of blasts that have rocked border stations facing Hong Kong and the nearby Portuguese colony of Macao in recent weeks.

$112,000 Robbery

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — Four masked men held up a Royal Bank of Canada cashier yesterday and got away with $112,000, police said.

The bandits entered the bank just as the money was about to be transferred to Mackenzie, a bauxite mining town, 65 miles up the Demarara River, and forced the cashier at gunpoint to hand over the money.

Billion Dollars In Investment Credit Voted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate turned today to a fight over expense account deductions after handing President John F. Kennedy a major victory in its first vote on the tax revision bill.

The Senate voted 52 to 30 yesterday to retain the measure's major provision—a one-billion-dollar investment credit to spur American industry to buy modern machinery and equipment.

The quick action raised Senate leaders' hopes they could push the 391-page bill to final passage by Friday.

The Senate continued in session last night to debate the next issue, expense accounts, and an attempt to fix a time for a vote on the provision failed.

The investment credit was retained with 37 Democrats and 15 Republicans voting for it, and 17 Democrats and 13 Republicans against it—an unusual lineup, as both conservatives and liberals were widely split.

The provision now is virtually certain to become law since it passed the House and has been retained by the Senate.

Under it, most companies can deduct from their taxes up to 7 per cent of what they spend on new equipment. Public utilities would be allowed 3 per cent.

The administration has urged the credit as a key weapon in its drive to help American business become more efficient and competitive in world markets, and thus bolster the economy.

Foes of the credit assailed it as a windfall to many companies which they said would make the investment anyway. They insisted there was no evidence it would bring any additional modernization.

The expense account fight turned on an attempt by Sens. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), and Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), to keep out of the bill an amendment proposed by the Finance Committee that would permit deductions for goodwill entertaining.

The House inserted a provision striking at such deductions. This drew a flood of protests to the Senate group from the hotel, restaurant and entertainment industry.

Gore said the effect of the Senate amendment was to permit continuance of a flood of deductions for such things as "night club hopping, fancy yachts, and swanky night clubs."

Sen. George A. Smathers, (D-Fla.), argued the House bill was harsh. He defended the Senate amendment, asserting "we have tightened up the law immeasurably."

The length of the debate on the bill seems likely to be determined by the fate of highly controversial proposal to permit self-employed persons to set up tax deductible pension funds.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), has offered this as an amendment. The administration has opposed the proposal.

England's Euromart Bid Getting Icy

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan revealed today previous assurances to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Britain's wholehearted interest in working for European political unity after the West German leader had expressed some doubts.

Macmillan ordered publication of part of a private letter he wrote Adenauer last month. Adenauer, in a television interview last night, had expressed reservations about British participation in a West European political union.

The publication of Macmillan's private letter, described here as unprecedented, underlined a growing coolness between the two statesmen on the issue of Britain's future role in the continent. French President Charles de Gaulle also has been described as privately cool to British entry in the Common Market, although both he and Adenauer have stated publicly they want Britain in.

Adenauer said in the television interview that as a German and a European he greeted Britain's eventual membership in the economic union of West Germany, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg. But he said that it had never been documented that all members of the Common Market should also be members of a European political union.

Adenauer said Macmillan told the British House of Commons July 17 "British membership in the Common Market does not imply membership in a political union of Europe as well. But in a letter he wrote me four days later Mr. Macmillan said quite the contrary—obviously because his ministers were of a different opinion."

Macmillan's letter said the British government had been "watching with sympathetic interest the efforts of the six Common Market nations to move toward greater political union."

"I can assure you," the letter continued, "that once the Brussels negotiations on Britain's bid to join the Common Market are successfully concluded, we shall wish to join wholeheartedly in this task."

The British Foreign Office said there was no conflict between what Macmillan wrote Adenauer and what he told the House of Commons. In the House, Macmillan said that it had always been clear that membership in the Common Market involved political implications but that Britain would have to judge, step by step, how far to go.

Rockwell Booted

MONTREAL (UPI) —American Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell, who arrived here yesterday and planned to boost his party's fortunes in this country, was evicted from his hotel today and said he was returning to the United States.

John Scofield, manager of the Berkeley Hotel, said Rockwell put up "quite an argument" but eventually bowed to the hotel's decision and checked out.

AIRMAN SERIOUSLY INJURED

Tow truck driver George Jazuk and California Highway Patrol Officer Gordon Bechtold, partially obscured, inspect the wreckage of the car from which A/2c Daniel Siracusa, 21, was flung 15 feet last night after his car swerved right near the Forbes overpass on Highway 101 and rolled down the embankment. Siracusa, attached to the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton Air Force Base, suffered a skull fracture and was in serious condition today at Letterman Army Hospital in San Francisco. He was driving north on the highway when the accident occurred north of San Rafael at 9:50 p.m. (Independent-Journal Photo)

Venus Rocket To Begin Telling Secrets

PASADENA (UPI)—The Mariner 2 spacecraft, on an epochal exploration journey to the mystery-shrouded planet of Venus, today neared a point in space where it will begin revealing inter-planetary secrets.

Scientists at Cal Tech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) said they expected to "soon"—possibly tomorrow or Friday—execute a command from earth to trigger the first experiments to be conducted on the historical 180 million mile space mission.

When they give the radio command, the Mariner 2 will start gathering valuable information on interplanetary magnetic fields, charged particles, cosmic dust and low energy protons from the sun. All of this information will place a significant role in future interplanetary flights by manned space ships.

JPL scientists, charged with guiding and tracking the 447-pound instrument-loaded space probe, said it would be 469,187 miles and traveling at a speed of 7,093 miles an hour at noon PDT today.

The spacecraft was losing speed under the prevailing yet lessening tug of the earth's gravity. But it will reach a velocity of 85,000 MPH by the time it whips past Venus at 10,000 miles early in December.

Scientists said the important mid-course maneuver, to correct a launching error that veered the Mariner 2 250,000 miles off target probably would not come until this weekend or after. A successful maneuver is necessary to curve the spacecraft on a trajectory close to Venus.

NOVATO

commissioners may consider all routes, including the "J" route east of the business district of Novato, recently recommended by State Highway Engineer J. C. Womack. The "J" route runs east of the railroad tracks but not as far east as the "K" route which the city council had favored.

The release of the "K" route allows construction of the Black Point interchange to begin since none of the other routes joins the freeway near enough to the interchange to affect its design.

T. Fred Bagshaw, with the Sacramento office of the highway division, said the commission generally reaches a final route decision within 30 to 90 days after the hearing.

The vote to give up the "K" route came after Councilman John J. Angeloni said, "with winter coming, it will be spring before the interchange is started and 18 months to two years before it is finished. I don't think it's fair to the traveling public to hold it up. I think we ought to release it so they can begin construction before winter."

Angeloni and Councilman Howard Schoof and Lucille Cannon voted for the release. Mayor M. E. (Babe) Silva and Councilman Everett Pozzi opposed the motion. "I'm of the opinion I don't want to release the "K" route," Silva said, bringing applause from the audience, which overflowed the council chambers. "Maybe it isn't feasible (the "K" route has been estimated to cost five million dollars more than any of the other routes), but we're going to have to live with it (no interchange) this summer and next summer anyway."

"I've heard you say, "Let's make a decision," snapped Angeloni, and called for a vote.

democracy with individual freedom which if allowed too much breadth could lead to subversion and destruction from within, without limiting freedom so drastically as to destroy the very freedom it seeks to maintain. In doing this the schools must provide a climate for performance and dedication on the part of the teachers while protecting the curriculum from extremists of both sides, he said.

In Sausalito Women's Clubhouse he told a hundred or so people that a "crisis" must be declared in the life of a child if he hasn't learned to read by the end of the third grade. At that time every facility of the schools should be brought to bear on this child's particular problem whatever it might be.

Richardson introduced his wife, Mary Lou, former city councilwoman and mayor of Culver City at the Sausalito City Council meeting.

all needs," said Dougherty. "It appears that a plant to serve 5,000 people isn't by any means 10 times more costly than one for 500 — this is a case of 'cheaper by the dozen.' "

Dougherty said the state park in the area will contribute something for initial expense and subsequent operating cost, also a federal grant may be possible to cover 30 per cent of original outlay, "so the burden will spread.

In the absence of Supervisor Peter Behr on vacation, his frequent sparring partner Supervisor William D. Fusselman said he'd cross district lines and move the necessary resolutions calling for election, finding the petition proper and the boundaries agreed.

Second Battery Stolen From Car

Theft of a car battery, the second one within a month, was reported to police today by Mary Lakusta of 120 Locust Avenue, San Rafael.

Police said last night's theft of a battery, voltage regulator and generator was a neat job. The station wagon was parked in a garage at the Locust Avenue residence.

The carburetor and air filter were tampered with but left in the car after an unsuccessful attempt to detach them. Value of the stolen parts was placed at $120.

This Man's Wife Understands Him

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Dick Downs, an orderly at the Dallas Osteopathic Hospital, says he bets a patient still is trying to smooth things over at home.

Downs had just wheeled the man out of the operating room after minor surgery. When they got to his room, the patient was babbling away, apparently still under the influence of the anesthetic.

Suddenly, the man looked up at the woman in the room, smiled and said:

"My, but you are a pretty nurse."

"I'm your wife," the woman snapped back.

Court Says Nay, Nay To Firm Of Many A's

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A trash hauling firm with 23 A's in its name lost an appeal to the state supreme court to force Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to list its full name in the phone directory.

The court refused, declaring such a ruling could mean a mockery of the telephone directory. Loser of the appeal: AAA AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA-A, Inc.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Lena Mengarelli Dies At 57

Lena Mengarelli, a former owner of the Flamingo Liquor Store at 1335 Fourth Street, San Rafael, died today in a local hospital after a short illness. She was 57.

Mrs. Mengarelli, who owned the store along with her husband, Fred, retired from business about one month ago. A native of Louisiana, she was a resident of San Rafael for the last four years. She lived with her husband at 10 Sierra Circle.

A Requiem High Mass will be said at 9:30 a.m. Friday at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael. The Rosary will be recited 8 p.m. Thursday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Interment will be in the Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

TRAGEDY IN TIMES SQUARE

Bleeding from a face cut, Mrs. Beatrice Gold, 53, and son Andrew, 17, are shown at scene of fatal accident in Times Square area of New York City yesterday. Andrew, who has driving learner's permit, was at the wheel of convertible, in background, which went out of control, mounted sidewalk at 41st near Seventh Avenue, and fatally crushed a 75-year-old woman against the wall. Hub Taxes Up, Bills Down

The tax rate has gone up in San Anselmo, but the tax bills are coming down.

"I don't think everyone is going to understand that," Councilman William Franchini said last night after the council fixed the tax rate for fiscal 1963.

Although the tax rate jumped from last year's $1.25 per $100 assessed value to $1.875, taxpayers in San Anselmo will actually be paying a little less. The reason is a change in the assessment base.

The city has changed its assessment base, now taking 23 per cent instead of 35 per cent of assessed value of property in the city.

"We were told that we should have a tax rate of $1.90 to equalize with last year's tax rate under the new assessment," City Manager Douglas Flautt said.

He thus claimed that the tax rate was actually dropping 2½ cents.

Breakdown of the tax rate is as follows:

General fund, $1.257; library, 15.5 cents; parks and recreation, 12.1 cents; retirement, 21.8 cents; capital improvement, 6 cents, and storm drain fund, 6.4 cents.

The council also called for a joint meeting with trustees of the San Anselmo Elementary School District in the near future to discuss the recent report calling for a recreation commission that would serve in an advisory capacity for a joint school-city recreation program. Flautt said he would try to set up the meeting.

On another matter, Flautt told councilmen that nearly all secondary streets in the city which needed repair have received it within the past two and one-half years.

The city can now concentrate on widening and improving Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. The first such work, a $20,000 project on a section between the hub intersection and Cemetery Road, will be done this year. This is a 50-50 project with the county.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

1. Held over action on a request for a change of name of Forbes Avenue to Racquet Club Drive until next meeting after property owners along the road have been notified.
2. Approved a $195 contract with Marin County for city police use of the county firing range.
3. Held over until next meeting a proposal to ban parking on the southwest side of Butterfield Road between Arroya and Carlson Avenues due to the narrowness of the road in that area.
4. Voted to purchase nine cement benches for a total $180 from the city of San Rafael.
5. Adopted a resolution declaring Sept. 3 through Sept. 9 National Labor Union Week.
6. Promised to look into a complaint from Mr. and Mrs. D. Vernon Rasmussen who said growth and earth fill in the creek behind their property at 1 Santa Cruz Avenue caused serious flooding last year and will cause even more serious flooding this year unless something is done.
6. Adjourned to 8 p.m. Sept. 11.

Near Blindness Improves Skill

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP)—Herman Fletcher, retired carpenter, still enjoys working with tools, even though he is 90 years old and blind.

He uses power tools expertly in a shop at his home, with memory and markings as guides.

When his finger touches a hole in the worktable three inches short of the whirring blade of a buzz saw, he stops.

"It's a funny thing," he says, "before I lost my sight (from trachoma six years ago) I was everlastingly sawing or banging my finger tips."

"Now I never do."

College Study Pays

NEW YORK (UPI)—The College Placement Council reports that salaries of non-technical college graduates this year averaged $24 higher than in 1960-61, boosting the average monthly scale for beginners to $476.

U.S. Spreads Hunt For Mrs. Kroeger

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A nationwide search was planned today for a long-missing grandmother, described by police as "dangerous" and now charged with murdering the strangled couple dug up in her basement.

Mrs. Ivan Kroeger, 44, had been sought mainly in the San Francisco Bay Area for investigation of murder. That was after police last week unearthed the bodies of a couple whose motel she took over.

But yesterday the district attorney's office changed the charge to murder. It said there is evidence Mrs. Kroeger was responsible for the deaths of 70-year-old Jay Arneson and his divorced wife, Mildren, 53, of Santa Rosa.

Federal officials promptly issued a warrant for Mrs. Kroeger's arrest for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. This will result in the display of post-office posters throughout the nation.

A police description noted that she "walks with a limp of the left leg, cocks her head to one side and squints while reading."

It said she has "unkempt dirty blonde hair, almost shoulder length, may be possible wearing a wig."

And it concluded:

"Subject should be considered dangerous."

Police and the FBI are convinced Mrs. Kroeger was in the San Francisco Bay Area when the bodies were found.

On Aug. 11, the day Mrs. Arneson's body was dug up in a steamer trunk, two grandsons of Mrs. Kroeger were picked up on an Oakland street.

The boys, Kenneth, 4, and William, 3, are the sons of Kenneth Allen, of Fort Myers, Fla., a son of Mrs. Kroeger by a previous marriage. She had taken them with the son's consent at Fort Myers on July 31 before the Kroeger basement in San Francisco had yielded its secret.

Mrs. Arneson had disappeared last December. Mrs. Kroeger took over the Arnesons' Santa Rosa motel but then he vanished in January.

Mrs. Kroeger disappeared the following May after a Santa Rosa business man pressed her for replayment of a $2,500 loan.

Mrs. Kroeger's husband, Ralph, a hod carrier, was charged with murder after the bodies were found. He has steadfastly denied any knowledge of the crimes or that he even knew she had any grandsons.

Yesterday, police said little Kenneth picked Kroeger out of a police lineup and told them:

"That's my grandpa — he gave me cereal and orange juice."

Arneson, a world war I veteran, was buried yesterday with military honors in Golden Gate National Cemetery.

His two San Diego sons, Richard and Jack, said their father was proud of his record and would have wanted such a burial.

Larkspur Plans To Meet On Ridge Zoning

The Larkspur Planning Commission agreed last night to meet at 8 p.m. Sept. 20 in Mill Valley city hall with the Mill Valley Planning Commission to discuss zoning on the north ridge between the cities.

Minimum lot size for single residential development in Larkspur is 7,500 square feet, whereas in Mill Valley some lots in the north ridge area run to 100,000 square feet or two and one-half acres.

Some Larkspur land actually lies on the Mill Valley side of the ridge, Larkspur Planning Commission Chairman Vaughn Marker said.

The Larkspur planners last night also agreed to begin discussion of a new subdivision ordinance.

The commissioners received a proposed new ordinance drafted by City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper based on about 23 old ordinances and on ideas gained from other cities' ordinances supplied by the League of California Cities.

LEVELS BUILDING—This was the scene of cowboy star Gene Autry's famed Melody Ranch today after a brush fire swept through the San Gabriel Mountains northeast of Los Angeles. (AP Wirephoto)

Gene Autry's Dream Up In Flames

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gene Autry's dream of building a museum of western lore went up in smoke yesterday, his wife said.

A swift-moving brush fire destroyed 75 per cent of the cowboy actor's famed Melody Ranch. Only a few ranch buildings and a small house were spared.

"My husband had been collecting western antiques for years," Autry's wife, Ina, explained. Her husband, who had inspected the damage, was out for the evening.

"He planned to display his collection in a museum on the ranch," Mrs. Autry said. "He was just waiting until he had time to get everything arranged."

Autry, in addition to producing western television series and motion pictures, also is a part owner of the Los Angeles baseball team. He purchased the ranch from the old Monogram Studios 10 years ago.

"We're not sure what's been saved," Mrs. Autry said. "My husband had a fine gun collection and another of more than 200 mounted longhorn steer heads.

"Our horses were all in fireproof stables and all of them were rescued."

Firemen also saved one of the veteran cowboy star's most precious collections — the films he's made over his long career.

The ranch's famed western street, backdrop of such popular television series as "Gunsmoke," "Wyatt Earp" and "Annie Oakley," went up in flames.

"We feel terrible, of course," said Mrs. Autry, "but at least we didn't lose our home as some people did." She could not estimate monetary damage. The Autrys live 25 miles away, in Studio City.

Parking Lot Action Due From Council

The San Rafael City Council is expected to act at a regular meeting next Tuesday regarding the title to a parking lot next to E Street School.

The council held a special meeting with the San Rafael Board of Education last night to discuss the complex title on the two-acre property. The school district has a suit pending in Superior Court to quiet the title which the district found imperfect when it decided to sell the property. The district found the city as well as the district (which has used the property since 1902) were involved in the title, Deputy County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney explained.

District Supt. Dr. Bert C. Corona said last night's discussions went "extremely satisfactorily."

K.O. Polio Training Clinic Set

Volunteers in the Marin County K. O. Polio drive will stage a training clinic Sept. 17 to get some idea of the problems which may arise in the first mass immunization with Sabin oral vaccine Sept. 23.

The decision to hold the training clinic was made this morning during the regular weekly meeting of the K. O. Polio Committee of the Marin County Medical Society.

The training clinic will be at 8 p.m., but the location has not yet been decided, Dr. Eugene Shatkin of San Rafael, committee chairman said.

The committee may possibly have enough Sabin vaccine to immunize 500 to 600 volunteer workers. If the vaccine is not available, the clinic will be run strictly as a training exercise.

Hauling Of Dirt From Northgate Site Confined To Hours Of 8 To 5

The contractor who moves more than a million yards of dirt and rock to make way for the Draper interests' new Northgate Regional Shopping Center will have to do it mainly from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., San Rafael planning commissioners ruled last night.

The commission flatly refused to let the developers run trucks from the shopping center site west of Highway 101 over the Terra Linda overpass to the Draper Industrial Park at any other hours. All blasting will be confined to the same hours.

The commission agreed, however, to a proposal by engineer Carlos Gonzales that additional hauling outside the prescribed hours could be done by using the Forbes railroad underpass. The contractor also will be permitted to do on-site work, other than hauling or blasting, at his own hours.

Draper representatives had proposed a 12-hour day for the earth-moving job, which they said must be done by July 1, 1963, to meet a commitment to make the Emporium site available.

In other business, the commission shelved a proposed zoning ordinance amendment by City Planner James R. Garrett that would have allowed exceptions without requiring proof of hardship.

Garrett's proposal was designed to cover "unusual" site conditions or new types of development for which there were no provisions in the ordinance, but which could not be approved under variances on a hardship basis.

Commissioners Orlando Conti and Charles Hendricksen felt the change would place too much control in the hands of councilmen and planning commissioners on untried types of development.

"When San Rafael gets its master plan, rehabilitates its zoning and enforces what it has, then we might look at this again," said Hendrickson.

The commission, consisting last night of only four members, filed the proposal away "for future consideration."

Chairman Pat Hetherton and Commissioner Gene F. O'Connor were absent last night. Commissioner Carl Brown presided.

The commission approved and forwarded to the city council an ordinance amendment controlling the keeping of horses in residential areas. The change will spell out conditions, but still will leave control in the hands of the city health officer.

Innocent Plea In Golf Club Thefts

Two Daly City youths accused of stealing a set of golf clubs from the Meadow Club on Bolinas Road near Fairfax pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Stephen R. Greenberg, 19, and Richard L. Milsner, 20, were arrested on suspicion of the theft Aug. 18. Judge Leonard A. Thomas set Sept. 14 for a preliminary hearing.

They are free on $1,050 bail each.

Golf Equipment Stolen From Car

A golf cart, bag and clubs were stolen from a car parked at the Nave Lanes parking lot in Ignacio, the Marin sheriff's office was told yesterday.

Norma Vanucci of 771 Penny Royal Lane, Terra Linda, told deputies the golf equipment was taken from the trunk of her car sometime last Friday night. She said the equipment was worth between $300 and $400.

Wallet Stolen From Hospital X-Ray Lab

An X-ray technician at Ross General Hospital told Marin sheriff's deputies yesterday her wallet containing $40 was stolen from the hospital X-ray laboratory sometime Monday.

Margaret Lilley of 308 Laurel Place, San Rafael, said she left the wallet on a desk when she went to lunch and it was gone when she returned. In addition to the money, the wallet contained her alien registration card and English and California driver's licenses.

Los Angeles Fires Still A Menace

would predict when the blazes would be contained.

There appeared to be no immediate threat to inhabitated areas such as Burbank, Glendale and Sylmar.

"The fires are now burning in largely rough and inaccessible areas," said the county spokesman.

Six borate bombers joined the battle this morning and five others were standing by. Fifteen bulldozers and 111 fire trucks were thrown into the battle.

Fire fighters include 65 Indian experts, 475 Mexican nationals, and 160 Army men from Fort Irwin, in addition to crews from Los Angeles and Ventura counties, the City of Los Angeles, and the U.S. Forest Service and the California Division of Forestry.

When the Newhall blaze reached the vicinity of Olive View Sanitorium last night, some 700 patients were safely evacuated. All the patients including 60 children were transferred to emergency shelters with the more serious cases going to three hospitals.

Several oil storage tanks at the El Potrero facility went up in flames last night as the Newhall blaze spread.

Terra Linda CSD Names Director

Directors of the Terra Linda Community Services District voted unanimously last night to appoint Arnold H. Brown, 975 Las Ovejas, San Rafael, a certified public accountant who has worked as controller for the district for over a year, to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Dr. Michael J. Franzblau.

Brown was one of three applicants for the post which has been vacant since June when Dr. Franzblau, after many disputes with fellow directors, resigned.

Robert H. Browne, who replaced Dr. Franzblau as president of the board, would not name the other two applicants for the vacancy.

The new director works for Arthur Anderson & Co. in San Francisco.

In other action last night directors learned that petitions for annexation of the Knocknaboul Way area will be ready for circulation in about two weeks.

Principal Cities With Principals

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Burl McCarty, a local citizen, says he is happy that St. Petersburg is among the cities that have some principles.

"Offices in Principle Cities."

mained on the Bowers fire lines.

Investigators theorized the blaze started when strong winds toppled a pine tree onto a power line.

Cause of the Lockwood blaze was not known. It started in mid-afternoon along Morgan Canyon Road and threatened several ranch houses.

More than 200 men were diverted from the Bowers fire. The crews had difficulty reaching the scene because spectators clogged the roads.

Borate bombing planes were called into action to aid ground crews. The planes continued bombing operations today to prevent flareups.

A five-alarm fire in San Francisco last night caused an estimated $200,000 damage, slightly injured eight firemen, and blocked traffic for nearly three hours on Market Street.

The blaze started in the basement of a partially-abandoned six-story building and spread to an upstairs discount house filled mainly with tape recorders, radios and phonographs.

A furniture store once located in the building moved out because of three previous fires.

Fire investigators suspected arson.

In Sacramento Gov. Edmund G. Brown said he is gravely concerned with the number and severity of the forest and brush fires now burning in California.

The governor said he is getting periodic reports on fires in the Los Angeles area and Fresno and Lake counties.

"My sympathies go out to the people who lost homes and property in these fires," Brown said.

"I hope that accounts of these tragedies will bring home the point to every Californian that we must all be especially careful during this time of the year to guard against fires such as these. I am thankful that no lives have been lost in these fires."

Brown praised crews of the U.S. Forest Service, State Division of Forestry, California disaster Office, state prison inmates and Mexican nationals for their courage in trying to contain the fires.

Boy Struck By Broken Bottle

A 14-year-old boy was hit on the forehead with a broken bottle thrown by another youth at Stinson Beach yesterday, Marin sheriff's deputies reported.

The victim, Robert R. Bangs, Jr. of 241 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley, was taken to a doctor, and the wound required 14 stitches. The boy's father told deputies his son and two other boys, accompanied by the mother of one, were on the beach when they were approached by three older youths.

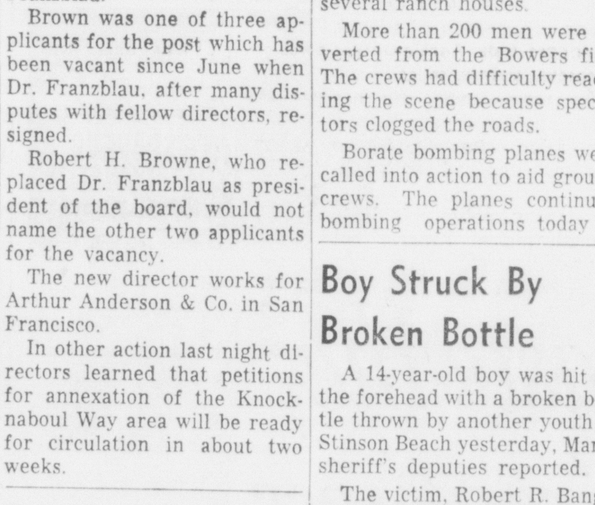

One of the youths threw the bottle at Bangs, and the three jumped into a car and fled.

Marin City Bus Station Robbed

A burglar broke into the Greyhound Bus station at Marin City today and escaped with candy, cigarettes and some bus tickets.

Station operator Roy J. Sender of 60 Ryan Avenue, Mill Valley, told Marin County sheriff's deputies he found the items missing when he opened the station and cafe at 5:30 a.m. The burglar entered by breaking a window and unfastening the window latch.

Deputies said entry was between 5 and 5:30 a.m. because the station was checked by deputies on patrol at 5 a.m.

Racial Protest Fills 3 Southern Jails

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — Segregated jail cells in three south Georgia cities were filled today with 75 clergymen and church members from 10 states after an attempted prayer vigil protesting racial bars in Albany.

Jews, Catholic and Protestants, men and women, Negro and white persons, young and old, went to jail after refusing yesterday to move from the sidewalk in front of City Hall.

"We have come to offer prayers to God," said a clergyman.

"Go back and preach to your own congregations and convert your own cities," said Police Chief Laurie Pritchett who ordered the arrests after three times warning the group to disperse.

Separated by race and sex, groups were sent to jails in nearby Leesburg and Newton and others were lodged at the county and city jails in Albany.

Bonds were set at $200 on charges of disorderly conduct, creating a disturbance, congregating on the sidewalk and refusing to obey an officer.

Albany, torn by nine months of intermittent racial strife, wasn't noticeably ruffled by the incident, although some of the several hundred white spectators cheered and applauded the arrests.

Among the demonstrators arrested were nine rabbis, eight Catholic lay members from Chicago, and 45 Protestant clergymen representing Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians, Lutherans, Episcopal, Unitarian, Disciples of Christ and United Church of Christ faiths.

They came from New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticutt, Illinois, Texas, Indiana, New Hampshire, Georgia and Washington, D.C.

Television Available At Marin General

Television sets equipped with frequency modulation radios will be available to up to 50 patients in Marin General Hospital under a plan approved last night by the Marin County Hospital District board.

Directors Marion C. Ibach and Charles A. Rowe were absent.

The board authorized a contract with the Evenview Television System of Beverly Hills and San Francisco to supply 50 sets. They will be rented to patients under supervision of the Marin General Hospital Service League.

The hospital directors also:

1. Authorized expenditure of $3,800 for drainage in the basement of the William Babcock wing, now being built, and $880 for a construction change in the main lobby of the addition.

2. Heard a report from the operations committee rejecting as too costly a $25,000 quotation to install an air conditioning unit in the intensive care unit being built.

3. Deferred action on a request from Mrs. Jean H. Smith, deputy county assistant director of disaster and civil defense, for partial use of the addition as a fallout shelter and asked for more data.

4. Heard a report from director Allan Chambliss on a preliminary study of a retirement plan for employees.

5. Received an administrative report that hospital occupancy recently has averaged 90 plus patients per day, about 10 lower than in some recent months.

6. Heard a report from Controller Gordon Goodrich in insurance specifications.

7. Authorized payment of $180,000 in warrants.

8. Adjourned in memory of former director William H. Thomas, who died recently, until an adjourned meeting at 5 p.m. Sept. 7 to consider setting up a coordinating council for activities of the hospital's service league and auxiliary league.

Man With Speared Leg Leaves Hospital

Eugene Yates of Norwood Avenue, Ross, who was speared in the leg last week by a piece of wood thrown from a power saw, was scheduled to be released from Ross General Hospital at 11:45 a.m. today.

Yates, owner of the Novato Lumber Co., required large amounts of blood supplied indirectly by the Marin Blood Bank when he was injured on Aug. 20.

Novato Sidesteps 'Principle,' Agrees To Have Sidewalks

Sidestepping "principle" is better than leaving Novato without sidewalks, curbs, gutters and wider streets, city councilmen agreed last night.

Four councilmen said they will consider permitting John Novak, Novato contractor, to install a 1,700 square foot business office in an apartment building he owns in a zoned residential area if he will agree to improve streets and sidewalks there. Novak's request had been turned down by the planning commission.

The two story, 13-unit apartment is located at the corner of Grant Avenue and Eighth Street. Novak, who owns a second apartment building across the street, said he will widen Grant Avenue and install sidewalk improvements from the boundary of the Marion School playground, which backs on Novak's property to the bridge on the next block of Grant.

"Does this mean I can put a business in my home?" asked a member of the audience.

"This will be a commercial activity, but it won't be commercial," explained Councilman Everett Pozzi.

"It's entirely wrong in principle," said Councilman Howard Schoof. "This is a creeping thing that will sneak further into the community."

"It would be nice to have those sidewalks," said Councilman Lucille Cannon.

"The man doesn't have to come before this group to build an apartment," said Mayor M. E. (Babe) Silva. "A few people call on him for parts, that's all."

The council voted 4 to 1 (Schoof dissenting) to request the planning staff to draw up an agreement with Novak for them to consider at their next meeting.

The council again overruled the planning commission by approving rezoning of property across from the Novato Hospital on grounds "that hospitals call for apartments nearby for the nurses." Property owned by Jack Caristi off Hill Avenue east of Diablo Avenue was rezoned from limited agricultural to multiple residential use. Councilman Schoof voted "No," saying: "This is contrary to the standards we are setting for the master plan. We should abide by the (planning) commission's best thinking."

Prize Money For Art Show $500

Prize money for the Sausality Art Festival, to be held at Central School Grounds Saturday, Sunday and Monday, hit $500 today with the donation of three more prizes totaling $100.

Latest prize money is being given by the Sausalito Foundation, Inc., in prizes of $50 first, $30 second and $20 third for the best art work in any classification by Sausalito artists. Other prizes to be awarded were donated by the Spinnaker, Valhalla Inn, City of Sausalito, the Chamber of Commerce, the Tides, The Glad Hand and The No Name.

The festival will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily over Labor Day weekend.

Arrow Leads To Odd Adventures

CAMPTON, Ky. (AP) — When Gene Booth shot an arrow into the air, it landed on the top of an unoccupied building.

The 15-year-old boy, using a door for assistance, climbed to the roof, retrieved the arrow, then discovered the door had swung out of reach.

Scooting to the edge of the roof, he was wondering whether to jump when a wasp made up his mind for him. It landed on his nose.

Booth promptly let go and dropped 20 feet but landed unstung and unbroken.

Rabbi Is Reelected

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Julius Mark, senior rabbi of Temple Emanu-el in New York City, has been reelected president of the Synagogue Council of America, the national coordinating agency for the conservative, orthodox and reform rabbinic and congregational organizations.

The Novato City Council Also:

1. Approved the first five house unit of the Cerro Vista subdivision on Chase Street and Olive Street, which eventually will include 51 houses.

2. Approved rezoning of a "triangle" of property owned by William J. Guinnane at Center Road and South Novato Boulevard from planned residential to restricted commercial use.

3. Approved rezoning of property at the corner of Center Road and Diablo Avenue, owned by Alfred Bellucci, from agricultural to multiple residential use.

4. Set a hearing for rezoning of property on Second Street owned by Eugene and Joyce McGillicuddy from single family to multiple residential use, for Sept. 11.

5. Heard that police will move into the new headquarters in the former Presbyterian church parsonage by Friday.

College Board To See Model Of Gymnasium

A study session will be held by the Marin Junior College District board at 8 p.m. today to view a model of the new million dollar physical education complex.

The meeting will be held in Room 24, Harlan Hall.

The model will indicate in three dimensions plans shown in drawings that the college board approved July 19.

The plans are slight revisions of those originally shown to the trustees June 25 and criticized by Trustee Robert E. Oliver and Fred F. Enemark, member of a building subcommittee of the college citizens' committee as "too expensive looking" and subject to possible objection by the public.

The revised plans have pulled buildings and corridors closed together.

U.S. passport office and Immigration and Naturalization Service estimate 706,000 Americans departed for Europe during the first half of 1962, a 9 per cent increase over the same period of 1961.

Novato City Council Votes To Ask $100,000 Swim Bonds In November

Novato city councilmen last night voted unanimously to ask the county supervisors to consolidate a $100,000 swimming pool bond election with the November general election.

Councilmen will have to stop residents on the street and talk up the pool if they want the bond issue to pass, San Mateo attorney James Morton said. Morton, of the legal firm of Wilson, Harzfeld, Jones and Morton, which specializes in legal work for bond elections, told the council how other communities have worked to pass similar bonds.

"The most successful method is a council willing to talk to service clubs and stop people on the streets. If the council isn't active, the heart of the support is gone," he said. "Part of the load should go to the parks and recreation advisory commission."

The council then held the first reading on a resolution announcing their intention to call a bond election. They will pass the resolution Sept. 11 if the supervisors have acted on the bond election by then.

Morton said the bonds would be sold at a maximum of six per cent interest by competitive bidding. The 42 foot wide, six lane swimming pool, the diving pool and the shallow wading pool are expected to cost approximately $99,000. This includes architectural, engineering and legal fees and a 10 per cent contingency allowance, in addition to the cost of construction. It will probably be built on the Novato High school grounds.

Farm Cost Rise 4-Fold Since 1940

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Glen J. Vollmar, Ohio State University extension economist, reports that farm production costs today are nearly four times as high as they were in 1940. He said studies show about 70 per cent of a farmer's gross income went to pay for production costs in 1961, compared with about 50 per cent in 1940.

In 1940, U. S. farmers spent $1.75 on machinery and buildings for every dollar spent for hired help. By 1960 the ratio had risen to 2.77 to 1, Vollmar said.

Sausalito Zoning Plan Objections Mount

Objections continued to mount to planned rezoning at a second public hearing last night on the proposed new Sausalito zoning ordinance.

The city council took no action, but agreed to review the protests and tour the town for a first-hand inspection of particular problems. The result will be a report on the city planning commission's zoning report.

Then, said Mayor Paul Micou, "possibly the ordinance can be drafted." He said a schedule is to be worked out on how to proceed at the council's meeting Sept. 4. This date also is the deadline for further communications from citizens on the zoning ordinance.

Basically protests said rezoning from duplex to single family would reduce the use of their properties. The city's position is that rezoning would reduce the density.

Micou read 15 letters, of which six persons objected to a rezoning from duplex to single family. One letter, from George Hoffman, urged adoption of the zoning ordinance.

Robert Nissen, vice chairman of the planning commission, spoke as one of two dissenters on the commission against the zoning ordinance. He objected to the extensive rezoning of the developed portions of duplex area to single family.

"A good portion of the areas are a mixture of duplex and single family homes," he said. "I do not believe duplex owners should be made a minority just because they are in the minority in a zoning."

Councilmen Jan Paul Dyk and Howard Sievers presented reports on the rebuilding of structures following fire or disaster if they constitute nonconforming uses. Their suggestions should be included in the ordinance draft, Micou said.

Sausalito attorney Leonard Bjorklund, representing Joe Roccoforte, asked the city council how many properties will be made non-conforming by the new ordinance. The question was unanswered. Bjorklund also wanted to know the tax loss to the city which the new zones would create.

Mrs. Ben Chamberlain told the council she was shocked the way people spoke of "my buck and my own little place rather than for the good of the community." She said everybody is concerned over their property values and asked what about Sausalito remaining dynamic.

The audience laughed but she was supported immediately by both Micou and Councilman Philip S. Ehrlich Jr.

George Chapman said it's all right to speak in glowing and exotic terms of Sausalito but "you can't have any town if there aren't people producing income units and paying taxes. . . . The only reason I came here was because I could invest some money and I hope to get a little on it."

The council also said informally it does not wish to see any more high rise apartments in Sausalito.

Ehrlich stressed a need for a two for one parking for single family and duplex zones such as is now used for apartments.

Capri Set Missing

A striped beige capri set, valued at $22.98, was reported stolen yesterday from a rack at the Ella Joseph Casuals store at 1417 Fourth Street, San Rafael, by Joseph Schwartz.

Poodle Dog Stolen

A 6-weeks-old black, miniature poodle was reported stolen sometime between 2 and 3:35 p.m. yesterday by Jules L. Gall, owner of the Gay Pet Shop at 508 Fourth Street, San Rafael. Gail told police that the poodle was 10 inches high and was worth $100.

FARMER PROTEST — Members of the National Farmers Organization piled Sears, Roebuck and Co. catalogues outside a Des Moines, Iowa, auditorium yesterday before voting to start an all-out withholding action on farm products. PLEDGE NOT TO SELL

Farmers To Fight For Higher Prices

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The National Farmers Organization (NFO) starts Saturday what it calls a "battle for the survival of the family farm."

Members of the Midwest farm group are pledged to sell no hogs, cattle, sheep or grain from midnight Friday until processors agree to long-range contracts, with the NFO calling for higher prices of those products.

Buoyed up by a massive turnout of an estimated 20,000 members who shouted approval of the holding action here yesterday, NFO president Oren Lee Staley declared: "We mean to win.

"Whatever length of time it takes to win this battle, we will do it," the 39-year-old Rea, Mo., farmer said.

"American farmers are the most underpaid group in America. They have retreated as far as they can. We do not intend to retreat any farther."

Staley warned members to brace for a long fight. He said the supply of meat in storage and sale of livestock by nonmembers will keep the market at near-normal levels for about two weeks.

"Then you can expect buyers to try to break your morale by saying everything is normal —even when there is no meat in the markets," Staley said.

The NFO president said his group has sufficient strength to attain its goals in the holding actions—in which hogs were kept off the market — failed to produce higher prices.

Staley has declined to reveal the number of farmers in the NFO, which claims membership in 15 states west of the Pennsylvania border to the Rocky Mountains, and south from Canada to Kentucky and Oklahoma.

He said, however, that he believes control of 25 to 30 per cent of the country's total agricultural production is needed to affect the market.

"We feel our members and the non-members who will support us give us that control," he said.

As Staley outlined the NFO's plans for the holding action, he was interrupted with bursts of applause from the farmers. The crowd was described by NFO speakers as "the biggest gathering of farmers under one roof in history."

Staley told members that if they had livestock ready for the market to "sell it in the next three days." Then livestock should be put on short rations so they do not become overly fat during the holding action, he said.

The livestock action calls for livestock and grain to be held until the following minimum prices are secured, compared to what the NFO said are current prices:

Butcher hogs 190-210 pounds, $22.75 a hundredweight (now about $18.50).

Choice grade cattle weighing 800-1,000 pounds, $32.45 (now about $28.00).

Choice wooled lambs, $29.45 (now about $22.00).

Corn, $1.49 a bushel (now about $1.10).

Soybeans, $2.56 a bushel (now about $2.30).

Sparing The Rod Spoils Business

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—If Gordon Yetman has his way, students in Oklahoma's rural schools will be learning to fish.

Yetman, factory representative for a Tulsa sporting goods manufacturer, is heading a campaign to introduce instruction in the use of rod and reel into the physical education curriculum of Oklahoma's rural schools.

"After all, we have junior baseball, golf, tennis and basketball," Yetman said. "Why not junior fishermen who know the fundamentals of catching fish?"

Truck, Automobile Collide On Highway

Jesse Curtis Voiles of 40 Woodside Way, Ross, was treated at Marin General Hospital early today for bruises of the left hand and elbow as a result of collision between his automobile and a truck on Highway 101 near Marin City.

Voiles told the California Highway Patrol that the truck drove out into his path so that he couldn't avoid it at 2:48 a.m. and that he later talked with its driver. But patrol investigation indicated that the truck had been parked all night on the "island" divider at the foot of the Waldo Grade.

WATCHING TARANTELLA — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy held her daughter Caroline and nephew Anthony Radziwill, both dressed in native costumes, during a folklore show last night at Ravello, Italy. There were songs and the native dance, the Tarantella, as the village said farewell to Mrs. Kennedy. (AP Wirephoto)

SHE'S MADE HONORARY CITIZEN

Italian Village Goes All Out With Their Farewell For Mrs. Kennedy

RAVELLO, Italy (UPI) — Firecrackers replaced a 21-gun salute and the village band played "The Marine Hymn" instead of the "Star Spangled Banner," but Ravello got its point across last night in a colorful fiesta honoring Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy, nearing the end of her vacation in this Mediterreanean resort, accepted a two-foot scroll making her an honorary citizen and told a cheering crowd in perfect Italian she felt "almost an obligation to return."

The American first lady dressed her daughter, Caroline, 4, in a colorful native "tarantella" costume for the farewell party. Mrs. Kennedy, who arrived here Aug. 8, is expected to return to Washington on Friday.

Wearing a two-piece blue chiffon dress, Mrs. Kennedy sat next to Mayor Lorenzo Mansi, who presented her with a scroll.

The traditional 21-gun salute was replaced by a volley of fireworks. Mansi explained Ravello lacks a functioning cannon and guns are considered dangerous here. But he said Ravello's 2,800 residents wanted a salvo of some sort.

American and Italian flags waved during the ceremony, which did not come off entirely as rehearsed. The band, which was supposed to play the U.S. national anthem, struck up a fanfare and everyone stood. Then it played two choruses of "The Marine Hymn."

Aside from this technical miscue, the party was a resounding success. It was estimated that about 3,000 tourists crashed the affair.

Mrs. Kennedy's scroll said the first lady "has aroused in the heart of the people the wave of happiness, sympathy and affection that has surrounded you, your charming little daughter Caroline and other members of your family from the day of your arrival."

A large bust of a smiling President Kennedy was placed in the town council's chambers for the occasion

In the final tarantella, women dancers raised their aprons to reveal letters which spelled out "Come back Jacqueline." The men held up cardboard squares with the same message.

Second Building And Site Study Is Requested By Reed Trustees

Nels H. Havens, newly appointed administrative intern, was requested by the Reed Union School District trustees last night to undertake the second phase of a building and site study.

The first phase, which was presented to the board in January of 1962 concerned enrollment projections. This phase will be concerned with physical plant needs.

Trustee Alyce Farkas urged that, prior to determining a building program, the district should consider the direction of the educational program. She cited team teaching and ungraded primary departments as examples of teaching situations where a different physical plant is required.

"Just because we have a few extra children doesn't mean we have to build four walls to house them. We may want to tear some down," she said.

Trustee Leo Souza deplored the lack of adequate facilities at the junior high level such as physical education, home economics and manual training rooms. He urged speed if new buildings are to be ready by Sept. 1963.

Supt. Edward C. Pino said he was sure the district could house even an increase in enrollment for one more year.

Havens was asked to report back as soon as possible.

Pino reported the present district enrollment at 1,394, an increase of 140 since the close of school. He reported 56 certificated staff members excluding administrators, an increase of three.

The board approved contracts for Flora Flores as language specialist and Mrs. Margaret Fisher, 25, primary teacher.

The board also approved continuing the services offered by the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum for which it agreed to pay at the rate of 10 cents per average daily attendance or approximately $125.

Surveyor's Tip Locates Village

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis. (AP)—A tip by a highway surveyor has led to the discovery of ruins of a 2,000-year-old Hopewell Indian village on a farm near this southwestern Wisconsin community.

Frank Homes of nearby Lancaster was surveying the relocation of a highway when he found many arrowheads and human teeth. He told the Wisconsin Historical Society, which sent archeologists to the site.

Diggings indicated that the village contained one larger central house, with 12 small houses surrounding it. Some were connected, indicating that the village may have been a fortification.

The Hopewells roamed a wide area of the upper Midwest from 500 B.C. to about 500 A.D.

Hobo Travel Takes Luxurious Turn

Chattanooga Lets Negroes In Schools

COMBINED AP & UPI

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Chattanooga cast aside color barriers in its school system today, quietly admitting seven Negroes for registration at two previously white schools.

They were the first of 39 Negroes scheduled for admission to six white schools.

In addition, the city is the first in the South to try to place white youngsters in one-time Negro schools. Some 32 white youngsters were scheduled for enrollment at four schools which served only Negroes last year.

City School Supt. Bennie Carmichael said previously, however, that he understood most of the white families involved had moved to other districts without notifying the board.

The integration process will be completed tomorrow when surrounding Hamilton County conducts its registration, throwing open the same three lower grades to pupils regardless of race.

At Atlanta, Ga., Negroes quietly entered 10 predominantly white Atlanta high schools today, six of them for the first time.

Police, watching closely as small, quiet groups of Negro students entered the schools, arrested three white pro-segregation demonstrators at West Fulton High School in the only known incident of the morning.

The youths, identified as members of an organization called the White American Party, carried a Confederate Flag and posters reading "Negroes must go back to Africa."

The youths refused police orders to move from a sidewalk in front of the school and police picked them up bodily and hustled them into a patrol wagon.

Board Votes New Sprayer Against Lice

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos reported a breakdown of a pressure electric power sprayer used for delousing prisoners.

"This is a very necessary item," said the sheriff, "because even one day's delay will allow insects to multiply viciously in the jail."

Formerly Inverness country storekeeper and present Supervisor George Ludy had a prompt and practical suggestion.

"Get a hand sprayer," he ordered, "and let the new assistant administrator go down and work it."

Even better, it was unanimously decided, would be to buy a new power sprayer for $98.50 and repair the old one against further emergency.

Bridgeway Inn Liquor License Transfer Urged

Immediate transfer of the Bridgeway Inn's liquor license was suggested to the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board last night by the Sausalito City Council.

The council is asking that the proposed transfer of the license be made promptly from present owner Glen Hill to Ray Pollachi, president of Ray Pollachi, Inc., in San Francisco.

The council also asks that the restaurant and bar at 621 Bridgeway be closed for 60 days prior to reopening under a new owner. This closing, according to Councilman Jan Paul Dyk, is suggested "to get the normal type of clientele out of the habit of going there." Complaints have been made to the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board of Homosexual activities at the bar.

The council also adopted an interim ordinance prohibiting lot splits that would result in smaller lots than proposed in the new zoning ordinance.

To be effective immediately, Mayor Paul Micou explained the city runs risk of having non-conforming lots if the ordinance were not put into effect.

Attorney Leonard Bjorklund objected to passage of the ordinance, saying it would be very premature prior to completion of hearings on the proposed new zoning ordinance.

The council adopted an ordinance restricting issuance of building permits in areas of the city which are called critical fire areas.

Income Increases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University's extension economists say consumers spent 4 per cent more for food in the first quarter of 1962 than in 1961, but their disposable income averaged 7 per cent higher.

Condemned Man Called Talented

"An alert individual" is the phrase San Quentin prison officials use to describe Lawrence Christopher Garner, condemned to die in the gas chamber 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Garner, stirred up a short-lived debate on whether wives should be allowed personal visits with their inmate husbands, is "artistically talented", Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said today.

His leisure time is spent painting with water colors and drawing with colored pencils. He also has done a considerable amount of reading.

Garner, 30, has corresponded regularly with his wife, Sondra Grounds Garner, who is serving a life sentence for the same crime that will lead Garner to the gas chamber—barring a last minute stay of execution.

He has been on death row at the prison since June, 1960 for the 1959 killing of two robbery gang accomplices, Richard Nolen and Patricia Hurley, in the San Bernardino desert.

Prison officials say the condemned killer is soft-spoken, normally religious and not a difficult inmate in any respect. Garner has not made many friends on death row, preferring to remain alone.

His execution Tuesday will be the 404th at San Quentin, 190 by gas and 214 by hanging.

Acacia Trees A Hedge?

A bob-tailed San Rafael Planning Commission last night declined to settle a hedge dispute between two Curtis Avenue property owners.

The dispute hinges on whether or not a stand of acacias bordering the Albert Kelly property, 44 Curtis Avenue, constitutes a "screen planting" violating the view of Kelly's uphill neighbor, Russell Bjorn.

Attorneys for the two owners argued opposite views in the matter, which led Commissioner Charles Hendrickson to observe:

"When two neighbors can't sit down together and talk it over and send their attorneys in here, something is wrong."

City Planner James R. Garrett told the commission that Bjorn had demanded that the city enforce its "spite fence" ordinance which limits the height of a "fence, hedge or similar screen planting" to three feet in the front yard setback area and six feet on side yards.

Garrett said he notified Kelly he'd have to trim the acacias, now a luxuriant 20 feet tall in their newest burst of growth.

Kelly, through his attorney, Roderick Martinelli, responded that this was no "screen planting;" it was just nature at work. He had tried to cut them back; they just kept on growing.

Besides, Martinelli told Garrett, the acacias shade his house from the afternoon sun. He based his case on the argument that the acacias are trees, not shrubs, and they had the whole hillside to themselves long before either Kelly or Bjorn came on the scene.

On the other hand, Bjorn's attorney, Howard Morehouse, said the acacias now constitute a screen planting, or hedge, and as such are subject to the law. Morehouse said his clients are paying taxes on "view property" and want their view.

Commissioner Orlando favored the Martinelli approach warning that if the commission axed the acacias, it would invite everybody in San Rafael to seek removal of every neighbor's tree that interferes with a view.

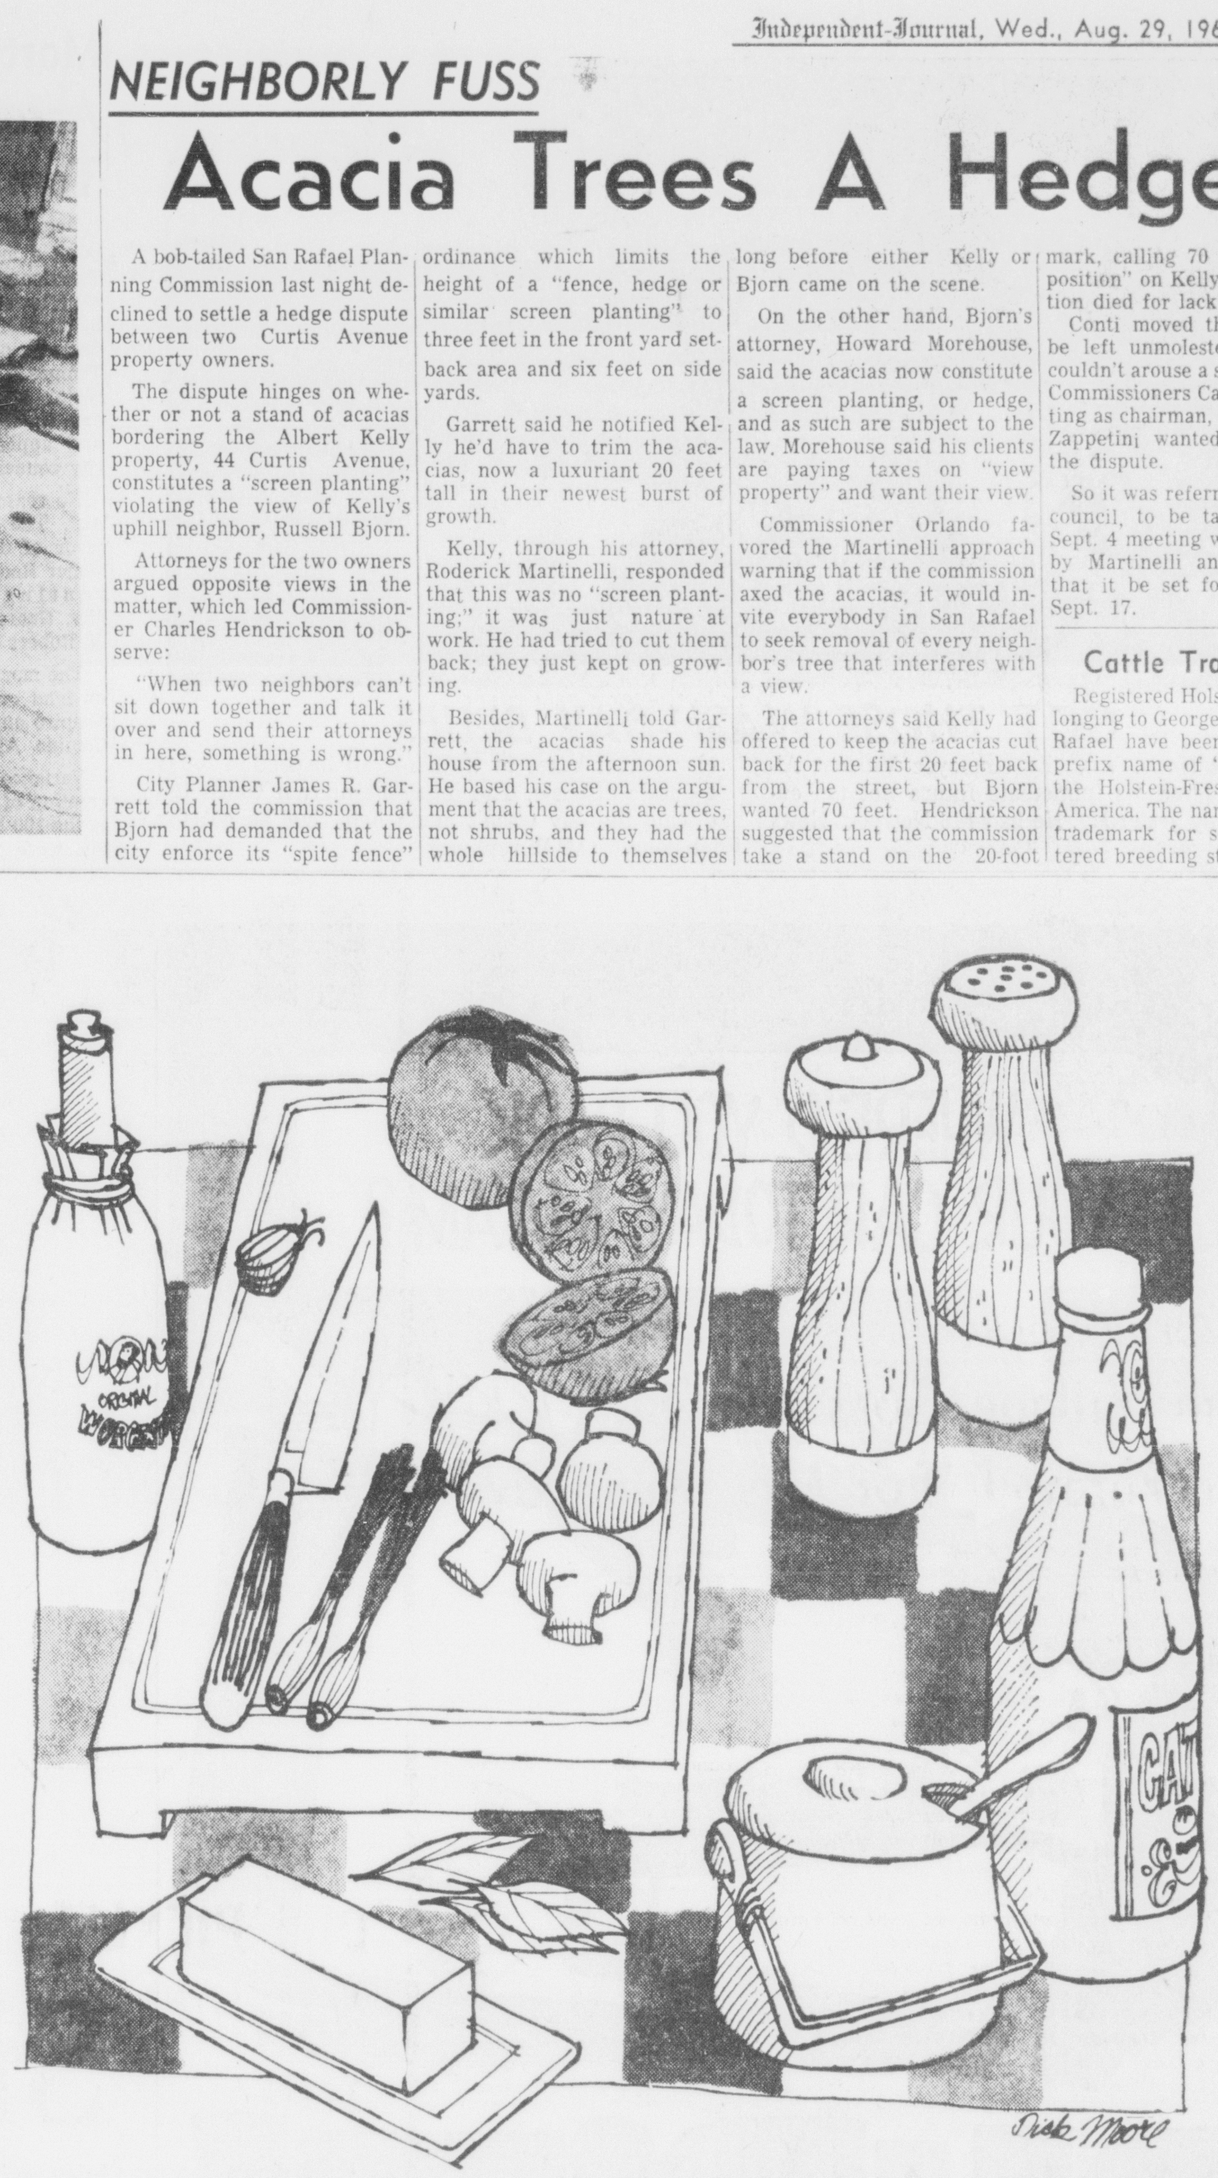

The attorneys said Kelly had offered to keep the acacias cut back for the first 20 feet back from the street, but Bjorn wanted 70 feet. Hendrickson suggested that the commission take a stand on the 20-foot mark, calling 70 feet "an imposition" on Kelly. But his motion died for lack of a second.

Conti moved that the trees be left unmolested, but he couldn't arouse a second either. Commissioners Carl Brown, sitting as chairman, and Mrs. Mae Zappetini wanted no part of the dispute.

So it was referred to the city council, to be taken up at a Sept. 4 meeting with a request by Martinelli and Morehouse that it be set for hearing on Sept. 17.

How to sauce up a cookout

Spicy Barbecue Sauce
(for sizzling steaks)

½ cup butter
1 Tb. vinegar
1 Tb. Worcestershire
½ cup water
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. minced onion
¼ tsp. pepper

Combine and warm ingredients in small saucepan. Stir well over low flame until butter melts and is thoroughly blended. Yield, about 1 cup.

Have steak at room temperature. Apply Spicy Barbecue Sauce liberally to both sides of steak with pastry brush and let stand ten minutes before placing on grill. Brush steak several times before turning. After steak is turned, continue to baste until it is removed from grill.

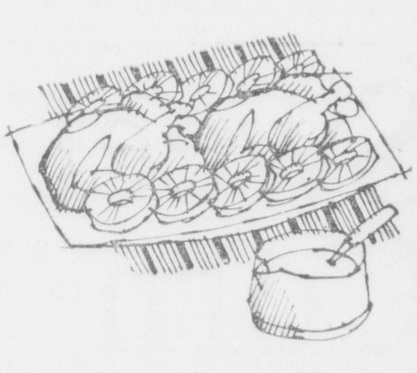

Tomato Barbecue Sauce
(for broiled hamburger)

¼ cup butter
¾ cup ketchup
1 Tb. Worcestershire
1 Tb. prepared mustard
1 tsp. onion salt
½ tsp. salt

Combine and warm ingredients in small saucepan until butter is melted. Makes 1 cup.

Brush sauce generously on both sides of hamburger steak or patties with pastry brush and let stand for at least ten minutes before placing on grill. Baste with Tomato Barbecue Sauce at least once before turning meat. After meat is turned, apply sauce to cooked side. When removing meat from fire, turn again and brush once more before serving.

Cinnamon Sauce*
(for broiled chicken)

½ cup dry sherry wine
6 Tb. honey
2 tsp. ground cinnamon
1 tsp. curry powder
1 tsp. garlic salt

Combine sherry, honey and seasonings in a small bowl. Pour over one frying chicken which has been cut into serving pieces and marinate for an hour. Turn chicken occasionally during this period.

Place chicken on grill and baste often with remainder of marinade until chicken is evenly browned.

Mortuary Across From Tam Denied

Request for a use permit to build a mortuary across from Tamalpais High School was denied by a 3-1 vote last night by the Mill Valley Planning Commission. The applicant, Thomas A. Meisner, funeral director at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, was told that he may appeal the denial to the city council.

No reason was given for denial. The vote was three in favor of denial, with commissioner Rodric L. Robinson dissenting and commissioners Mrs. George P. Gustafson and M. Robert Hyer abstaining.

The mortuary would be built on land owned by Herbert H. Shapiro on Miller Avenue near Camino Alto.

Mill Valley Doctor Sues Makers Of Thalidomide For Eye Damage

Dr. Herbert Lawrence of Mill Valley has sued the makers of the infamous drug thalidomide for $100,000.

Dr. Lawrence, a skin specialist who practices in Mill Valley and Richmond, and in San Francisco, where he filed the suit in Superior Court yesterday, has charged that a drug known as MER/29 caused permanent damage to his eyes. MER/29 is another drug made by William S. Merrill and Co., the United States manufacturer of thalidomide, a sedative that has been responsible for infant deformaties and fatalities when taken by pregnant women.

Dr. Lawrence said in his suit that after he took the drug the rear portion of the lenses of his eyes became opaque. His attorney Burton Goldstein said the doctor, despite the injury, was not deprived of his sight, nor incapacitated.

In the suit it was alleged that Dr. Lawrence took the drug after it had been prescribed for him Feb. 25, 1960. Dr. Lawrence, asked why he took the drug, told the Independent-Journal today that he would "rather not comment at this time."

Chemically named triparanol, the drug was withdrawn from the Market last May by the Food and Drug Administration after it was learned that MER/29 had been taken by four persons who later developed eye cataracts.

The newly introduced MER/29 had been considered as an experimentally effective method of lowering cholesterol levels in the blood.

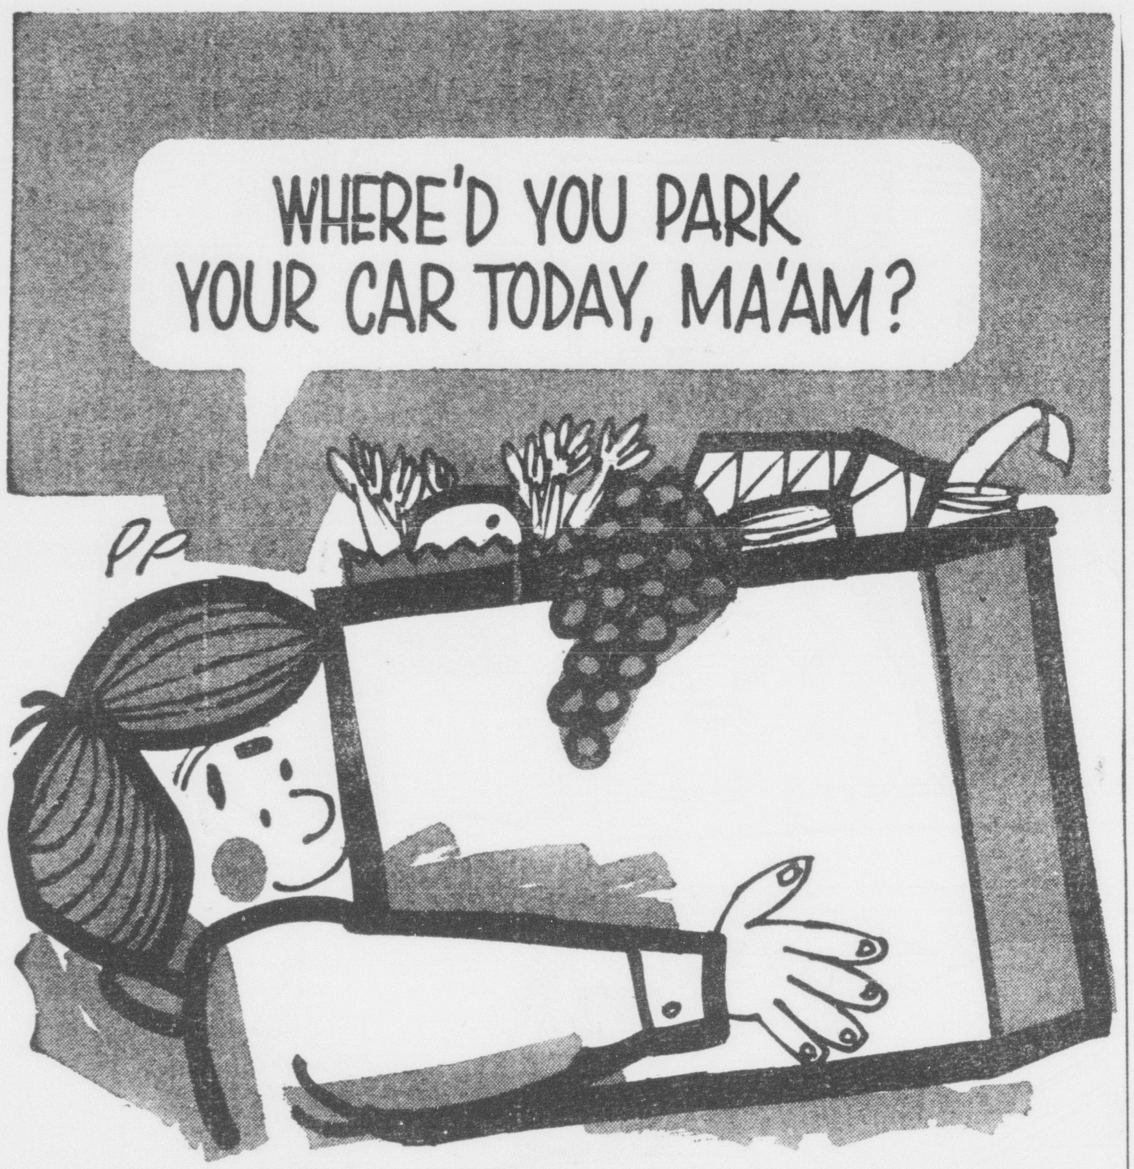

The lawsuit charges Richardson-Merrell Inc. parent company of the drug manufacturing firm, with negligence and breach of its implied warranty that the drug was safe.

Dr. Lawrence has been a resident of Marin for the past eight years. His home is at 348 Magee Avenue, and his Mill Valley office is at 61 Camino Alto.

ESCAPED DEATH BY A HAIR

Greenborough Access Is Settled

A last-minute land deal cut off yesterday's expected county supervisorial hassle over "eminent domain" privileges for the big Greenborough development almost before it started.

The Marin County Planning Commission had approved, only the previous day, a proposed arrangement whereby the developers of 1,943-acre Greenborough northwest of Novato would be given three months to buy property for a new access road eastward to Highway 101, and if they didn't succeed the county would exercise its condemnation powers on behalf of the developers at their expense.

"I've been considerably concerned," said Supervisor William D. Fusselman, "over this proposed use of county powers of eminent doman on behalf of private interests. While I'm all for this project, if we do this every small subdivider will want us to run through such proceedings."

But at this moment, which was 2:35 p.m., Carlos Tavares, representing the subdividers, arose with a smile to announce that "your problems are all over. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the Nunes family and ourselves agreed."

Attorney Bryan McCarthy, who had attacked the proposed arrangement before the planning commission Tuesday as unfair to the Nunes' ranch interests and "a serious policy decision," visited the chamber for only a moment during which he whispered that "We're satisfied now."

Supervisor William H. Gnoss of Novato expressed pleasure at this elimination of a major hurdle in getting along with the hundred-million-dollar project expected to produce 4,200 homes and he paid tribute to the developers in moving approval of the master plan with elimination of the "eminent domain" provision.

"This is a most agreeable group," said Gnoss of Sunset International Petroleum Corp. "They are always ready to compromise to make things move along."

"If anything should slip about this deal," said Fusselman in concurrence, "we can then take up the question of eminent domain."

No mention was made of the intended change in name to "San Marin," mentioned before the planning commission Monday, but it is understood that postal authorities have suggested relinquishment of "Greenborough" because of similarity to "Greenbrae."

The supervisors also approved annexation of the development to Sanitary District No. 6.

Driver Who Was Booked For Slow Driving To Appeal

For driving too slow, Bernhard Kurt Dobkowitz, 62, was sentenced to five days in jail, put on probation for one year and ordered to attend traffic safety school yesterday in Municipal Court.

Dobkowitz, an architectural draftsman who lives in San Francisco, says he will appeal his case to a higher court.

He was arrested June 23 for driving 25 miles an hour in the middle lane of Highway 101 on Waldo Grade. He demanded a jury trial and was found guilty. Yesterday he appeared before Judge Leonard A. Thomas for sentencing.

Acting as his own lawyer, Dobkowitz demanded a new trial. He declared, first, there was misconduct on the part of a juror, and, second, there was no evidence that he had any criminal intent in steadfastly sticking to the middle lane while other drivers passed him on both sides.

Dobkowitz carried with him a copy of the United State Constitution. He opened a law book to a 1905 case which he said supported his arguments.

Judge Thomas denied the request for a new trial, and Dobkowitz immediately said he would "appeal to a higher court."

The judge said that was his right and proceeded to read sentence, saying he would grant a 15-day stay in which Dobkowitz could file his appeal.

Dobkowitz interrupted, exclaiming: "Why are you doing this to me? You pledge allegiance to the flag, and then you do this!"

"If you keep interrupting me," Judge Thomas said, "I'll find you in contempt of court and have the bailiff take you down to jail right now."

"I never knew a man could be so punished just for asking for a trial," Dobkowitz said dejectedly.

If he had forfeited bail, Dobkowitz would have paid only $12, the usual amount for such traffic violations.

"This has ruined my life," Dobkowitz told reporters as he left the courtroom. "I have to go on and appeal."

Mechanical Brain Prefers Women

MOUNT BETHEL, N.J. (AP)—Electronic brains are no fools; they get along with women much better than with men.

That's the verdict of the Burroughs Corp. electronic components division here.

"We use women in preference to men," said general manager Saul Kuchinsky. Putting together minute parts under exacting standards takes manual dexterity and spatial perception, Kuchinsky explained. Many male workers have these, but women seem to have one thing extra: more patience.

The women are less easily irritated by working with tiny parts for computers. "We have determined this from experience," Kuchinsky said.

School For Retarded Protested

Neighbors' protests against proposed location in Santa Venetia of a pre-kindergarten school for mentally retarded children yesterday caused Marin County Supervisors to continue to 2 p.m. Sept. 4 an application for a use permit.

County School Supt. Virgil S. Hollis subsequently expressed concern, due to urgent need for this facility and desire to open it without undue delay. But he conceded that the neighbors had a right to be heard.

Paul H. Makinson of 73 Vendola Drive told the supervisors that the county Planning Commission had done some pretty fast shuffling the night before, when in the course of an all-day session lasting to 9:30 p.m. it approved the use permit for establishment of the school on Lot 31, Venetia Harbor, at 71 Vendola Drive, without hearing a protest of petition signed by 30 nearby residents.

After this approval the commission sent the application to the supervisors a week ahead of customary time.

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said he had misunderstood the supervisors' attitude, which he had thought one of willingness to act at once. He had the missing petition and turned it over to the county clerk, who had another protest by that time.

Makinson said feelings against the school was strong and that the way the matter had been handled so far impressed him as unfair. By next week, he forecast, due notice would allow the neighbors to turn out in force as they valued the single-family residential character of the neighborhood and had been assured in the past that no intrusion of other elements would be allowed.

Supervisors expressed concern over handling of the application up to then and promised the legally provided hearing next Tuesday.

The Board Of Supervisors Also:

1. Appointed Arlene Guerrero deputy probation officer at $508 monthly, Jack Hoffman group counsellor at juvenile hall at $465, and Calvin C. Matthies janitor for the Public Works Department at $360.

2. Accepted a $5,503.14 bid from Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. for corrugated metal pipe.

3. Approved a form of ballot for polling all county employees for their views on possible change in group medical insurance; heard from the county clerk that a vote on change of retirement plan had received 397 affirmative votes to 23 negative.

4. Received offers of help in civic center dedication from the Novato Art Guild (offering "juried paintings") and the John Robert Powers school (offering student aid).

5. Approved a resolution expressing opposition to proposed reapportionment of state senatorial districts.

6. Confirmed appointments of Thomas D. Hardcastle, Clayton Payne and George P. deTuncq as members of the Sanitary District No. 6 board; of S. G. Bennett, Alfred O. Pratesi and Kurtis T. Webb to the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board; of Camille Remy, E. A. Ostaggi and A. N. Nipper to the Sanitary District No. 1 board; and of W. P. Stickney and S. L. Chapin to the Alto Sanitary District board.

7. Continued to 4 p.m. Sept. 4 the protracted wrangle over distribution of assessments for Rock Hill Assessment District, termed by Chairman Walter R. Castro "the worst trouble I've ever seen since I've been on the board."

8. Approved agreement with A. E. Mullin for construction of a concrete bridge on Alexander Road over Stemple Creek, near Tomales.

Supervisors Ask Airport Access Road

State Highway Commission permission for Marin County to construct a new access road between Highway 101 and the county airport north of Novato was requested by supervisors in a resolution adopted yesterday.

"This doesn't commit us to build, but because the connection is to a freeway we need state approval," said public works director Donald R. Frost.

Existing agreement provides that the county has to furnish access to the airport. There is a private access road but use might be cut off.

The supervisors referred to the Airport Committee a proposal by the bond firm of J. B. Hanauer & Co. to prepare a "financial feasibility report" concerning a possible new county airport beside Hamilton Air Force Base. So far all investigation has dealt with engineering problems.

Vanilla beans, dried in the sun for weeks to acquire their heavy scent and aroma, lose 75 per cent of their original weight in shrinkage.

Shaw Leads List Of 'Name' Pro Gridders To Get Axed

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

George Shaw, a quarterback whose performance has never equalled his potential, is back on the football market today along with a host of other professional veterans and rookies, some of whom may prove to be the answer to some talent-hungry coaches' needs.

Shaw and halfback Tom "The Bomb" Tracy of Pittsburgh topped a list of National Football League veterans who were put on waivers or released yesterday as the NFL teams trimmed their rosters to a minimum of 43 players.

This twosome was joined by veteran defensive tackle Jess Richardson of Philadelphia and Don Gillis, a center released by St. Louis. All four were starters on their clubs a year ago.

Tracy injured his leg in an exhibition in Detroit Monday night and may be sidelined indefinitely. Two weeks ago, veteran fullback Joe Perry of the Baltimore Colts hurt his knee in an exhibition game and was put on the inactive list.

American Football League clubs also did some trimming to get their rosters to 38 active players. This number does not count rookies who participated in the College All-Star game in Chicago earlier this month.

NEXT DEADLINES

All AFL teams must cut to 33 by next Tuesday, at which date the NFL clubs will be trimmed to 38. The latter's final cut to 36 must be accomplished by midnight Tuesday, Sept. 11.

AFL clubs, particularly the New York Titans, are in the market for a quarterback with Shaw's experience. Such former NFL signal-callers as George Blanda of Houston, Jack Kemp of San Diego, Babe Parilli of Boston, Frank Tripuka of Denver and Al Dorow of Buffalo have gained starting berths in the AFL, and two others, M. C. Reynolds and Don Heinrich, are fighting for the top spot on the Oakland Raiders.

Shaw, a former University of Oregon star, has had a checkered career. He lost the No. 1 job on the Colts in 1956 when forced to the bench by an injury that gave Johnny Unitas his chance for regular service. He played behind Charley Conerly most of his two years with the New York Giants then lost the starting berth on the Vikings to rookie Fran Tarkenton last year.

The Vikings added Lee Grosscup, a bench warmer for two years with the Giants, this summer, and Shaw was forced further to the rear when the young Utah graduate put on a sparkling passing display against St. Louis in an exhibition game last weekend.

VETERANS CUT

The Vikings released five other veterans, and added a third quarterback when they picked up rookie John Furman, released earlier in the day by Cleveland. Defensive backs Dick Mostardio, Bob McNamara and Jamie Caleb also were let go by Minnesota, along with linebacker Karl Rubke and center Dick Grecni.

Will Renfro, another NFL veteran, was also waived by the Eagles as was linebacker Doyle Shick by the Washington Redskins and defensive halfback Bob Harrison, a starter in 1961, by Baltimore.

The Titans have a place for Shaw after releasing Bob Scrabis, a substitute quarterback for the past two years. The rest of the AFL cuts were mostly rookies, but included four other signal-callers: Don Breaux of McNeese (La.) State by Houston; Chon Gallegos, from San Jose State, by Oakland; Manch Wheeler, from Maine, by Buffalo; and Gale Weidner, from Colorado, by Denver.

Houston, which released six players, added NFL veteran lineman Ed Culpepper.

Injuries forced a change in personnel on some rosters. Defensive back Tom Brookshier, who hasn't fully recovered from a broken right leg suffered last November, and rookie offensive guard Bill Byrne of Boston College were placed on the injured reserve list by Philadelphia.

Offensive end Tom Rychlec of Buffalo was placed on the deferred list after dislocating his left shoulder in practice. He'll be out for six to eight weeks.

Sanford A 'New Breed' Hurler; Not Conditioned To Go The Distance

CONNOLLY

Let us consider, for a few moments, the case of Giant pitcher Jack Sanford, an 18-game winner with 12 straight notches in his victory belt.

It'll be a long time before you'll ever find a more conscientious worker, a harder thrower or anybody who does more grunting and groaning and face making than Jack the Giant killer. He rates a front line berth in the rasslin' game when he finishes with baseball. He has all the eccentricities of the most highly polished grunt and groaner. He can lose his temper faster, get white with anger quicker and throw harder. In fact the harder he is hit, the harder he pitches until he finally has to be actually yanked into the dugout.

What makes Sanford's pitching so amusing is that in winning 12 straight games he had to be rescued 9 times.

Why?

Because Sanford is the "new breed" in pitching. He rares back, fires hard and does it until he is corked. Then he wants out, and out fast. The bigger the lead Jack has when he blows up the quicker he likes to leave the battlefield to preserve it.

NOW THERE is only one explanation for such a situation. And it has to be that he doesn't train himself to hurl nine innings. In fact, if Sanford, (as has happened more than once), has any base running to do, like scooting from first to third base on a gallop, he might turn in his "time ticket" right there and then because he is exhausted.

But Sanford, in being one of the front runners in the new breed among pitchers, doesn't sidestep work. He thrives on it, but on account of some unexplained phenomena, he can't seem to pitch in the waning innings. It could be his nerves, the excitement, or the butterflies in his tummy. But any batter who has faced Sanford prefers to meet him face to face in the late innings when that certain "oomph" on his fast ball fades.

ALVIN DARK, the Giants' head man, judges Sanford as one of his better pitchers and tells him to go out there and give 'em all you got while you can and then I'll supply the rescue squad. This has worked out quite satisfactorily for the Giants.

Sanford's biggest year was when he won 19 games in a single season for the Phillies. This season he is apt to pick up 25 of he goes the rest of the way like he's been going up to now.

But I'm wondering, next spring, when Jack the Giant Killer confers with Chub Feeney, vice president in charge of the Giant payroll, just how much it will mean to him in the way of a salary boost.

Do you suppose Feeney might cast a few aspersions on how much relief help Jack had to get before he was able to establish whatever record he does?

"You didn't win those 25 victories even though you got credit for them," Feeney might say, "It was the extra pitching help I hired that made your mark possible," or words to that effect.

I CAN'T imagine Feeney saying that, or even thinking that way . . . at least not yet. But if it doesn't happen in the case of Feeney and Sanford, let's say it happened in thousands of similar cases.

Let's hope Sanford continues to win, whether he goes the full nine innings or whether they have to bail him out. Any kind of a triumph right now will help the cause and could bring a pennant.

COMPLETES DOUBLE PLAY

Los Angeles Dodger second baseman Larry Burright goes high in the air to avoid sliding Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds during eighth inning last night. Burright threw to first base to complete double kill after Wally Post of the Reds grounded into a double play with the ball going from shortstop Maury Wills, to Burright to first sacker Ron Fairly. (AP Wirephoto)

Weird Breaks Help Giants; Mays' Catch Derails Braves

A couple of weird breaks and the magic glove of Willie Mays kept the San Francisco Giants two and one half games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers today in their hectic battle for the National League flag.

The Giants nicked Milwaukee, 4-3, last night for their fifth straight win in a bizarre contest that saw the Braves victimized by such oddball developments as a nullified balk and Henry Aaron's failure to touch a base while in reverse.

Then there was a fantastic catch by Mays that robbed Ed Mathews of a game-winning home run. Willie chipped in earlier with his 39th of the year.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Braves tried again today when he opened with Bob Hendley (9-10), who faced Billy O'Dell (15-11) in a clash of portsiders.

17 FOR JUAN

Juan Marichal allowed the Braves six hits last night in posting his 17th win against nine losses. One of the blows was a three-run homer by Del Crandall that tied the score at 3-3 in the seventh inning.

But the Giants broke the tie in their half of the frame when Orlando Cepeda sent Chuck Hiller from first to third with a hot single and Felipe Alou brought him across while using his great speed to beat out a fielder's choice.

Then came the eighth inning and the mighty Mathews stepped in with two out and pinch-hitter Gus Bell on first by virtue of a walk.

Mathews drove one of Marichal's pitches out to dead center field and the ball was about to glide over the fence when Mays leaped up and dragged it in with one hand.

UMP REVERSED

That wasn't all that happened to Milwaukee, which had gone into the game with a record of six wins in its last eight games. With men on first and second in the first inning, first base umpire Augie Donetelli ruled that Marichal had committed a balk.

The runners moved into scoring position, then were shuffled back when the three other arbiters ruled that Donatelli was off base. Henry Aaron and Lee Maye then hit long flies that would have brought in runs had the balk not been killed.

Aaron wound up the victim of a double play in the fourth when he raced from first base past second on Maye's long fly to Mays, but forgot to touch the center bag while on the way back to first after the catch. So shortstop Jose Pagan took Mays' throw in and stepped on the sack to retire the side.

MAYS HOMERS

Mays' home run off starter Bob Shaw gave the Giants a 1-0 lead in the first inning, and Harvey Kuenn made the score 3-0 in the sixth when he lined out his ninth homer with Marichal on base.

Hiller opened the seventh by drawing a pass off loser Carl Willey (1-5) and went to third on a single by Cepeda that made Willey duck. Alou followed with a grounder to shortstop Roy McMillan who fired to second baseman Frank Bolling to retire Cepeda.

But Alou beat Bolling's throw to first as Hiller scored and that was it.

Builders Start Busy Week Of Diamond Action Tonight

The Billings-Hutchinson winter baseball team starts a busy week of diamond action tonight with four games scheduled through Monday, all on San Rafael's Albert's Field.

The Builders take on Fitzpatrick Chevrolet from Concord tonight at 8:15. Starting Builder pitcher Dick Descalso will be facing Bob Allison, Concord hurler who struck out 19 and 20 in his last two games.

Saturday night at 8:15 the Builders will take on the Southerland-Bowerman team from San Francisco. Starting pitcher for Billings-Hutchinson will be Jack Sovereign.

The San Rafael team will play a pair of games with the Coalinga Indians Sunday and Monday, both games getting off at 1:30 p.m. Pitching for the Builders Sunday will be Bob DeRosa and Fred Thurman will take the mound Monday.

Injured Rams Snip Squad To 43; Drill Pace Slows Down

ORANGE (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams cut their squad to 43 players and are slowing their training pace because of injuries.

The Rams take on the Cleveland Browns in the Coliseum Saturday night, but have some key injuries in the line. Tackle John Lovetere has a sprained ankle. Tackle Urban Henry is in a hospital with a pinched nerve in his neck.

End Jim Phillips has a bad bruise on his right thigh and fullback Dick Bass is still hobbled but was able to get in some light work yesterday. Halfback Jon Arnett missed Tuesday's workout because of the flu.

Five players were cut. They are John Kennerson, defensive tackle from Kentucky State; Dick Dorsey, offensive end from Southern California; Jim Bakken, kicking specialist from Wisconsin; fullback Frank Williams of Pepperdine and offensive tackle Frank Smith of Penn State.

Rancho Nicasio, Peri's Win Softball Games

Rancho Nicasio whipped Terra Linda 6-1 and Peri's Tavern nipped Perry's Delicatessen 3-2 in San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball action.

Dan Irving of Nicasio had a perfect three-for-three in the win which saw Nicasio score one run in each of the first six innings. Winning pitcher Dave Johnson gave up only two hits.

Peri's Tavern won its contest with a run-scoring single by Ben Acina in the last of the seventh inning.

College Freshmen Losing Wheels

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Something will be missing on state college campuses this fall for freshmen—their automobiles.

The Council of Public Higher Education has forbidden freshmen to possess or operate motor vehicles within certain distances around the schools.

The same policy will apply to incoming sophomores who hold less than a "B" average in September of 1963.

Record Ohio Well Was Just A Dry Hole

COLOMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There were 1,113 wells drilled for oil and gas in Ohio last year and 73 per cent of these were reported as productive.

But the deepest test ever drilled in the Buckeye state, completed in Guernsey County to a depth of 8,602 feet, turned out to be a dry hole.

New York Giants Cut Three Rookies

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP)—The New York Giants, defending Eastern Conference champions of the National Football League, today announced that three rookie players had been cut from their roster.

The Giants released Ted Poliskin, a defensive end from Hofstra, Dave Bishop, a linebacker from the University of Connecticut, and quarterback Frank Marriott, from Troy (Ala.) State.

Little Leaguers In World Of Own; Adults, Stay Out!

EDITOR'S NOTE—If you are having trouble understanding your own Little Leaguer, you might get a better understanding from this story, written by Jim Becker after covering the Little League World Series in Williamsport last week.

By JIM BECKER

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Little League baseball is played in a 12-year-old world that no adult can ever really penetrate.

It is a world of sudden crying jags, which disappear as quickly as they come and for as little evident reason. There is brutal honesty and a deep-felt tenderness toward the other residents and a crisis every half-hour where life is either too much to bear or too good to be true.

When the best baseball players in the world for their age square off on a diamond scaled down to 12-year-old proportions, adults are allowed to watch, but not really to enter into the proceedings.

Twelve-year-old boys waste little time on the formalities of the older world.

If a Little Leaguer tells you that another one is a better ball player than he is, don't argue with him. He knows, and there is no shame in him. That comes at a later age.

He will tell the other Little Leaguer the same thing.

He sees no disgrace in losing 22-1, or winning by the same score, although the adults in the stands may cringe at the sight and worry about the scars such a beating must leave on his psyche. Obviously, it doesn't leave any.

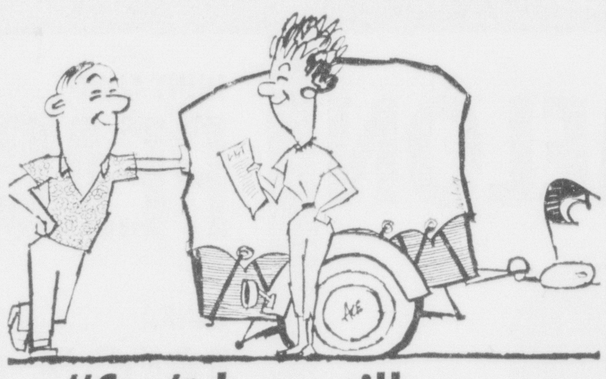

He may talk baseball all day, or he may talk about the sky, or frogs or Indian head pennies.

There will be a crisis every half-hour in his world, but his memory span appears to be shorter than that. You can't be sure, and you'll never know. You can watch, but you can't come in. You're not welcome.

Cotati Drag Races

Exciting challenge races of the super-stockers will highlight activities at Cotati Drag Strip, north of Petaluma on Highway 101, Sunday. Top dragsters from Northern California will compete for weekly honors and awards, according to race officials.

THE AMBULANCE CHASERS CAME—AND WENT

Deep in the bushes there must be a secluded hideaway where glib opportunists lurk on the ready to pounce on their unsuspecting prey. Their only overhead must be the cost of subscriptions to all newspapers. The brashness they have they were born with.

The black and red ink had scarcely dried on our ad in this paper in which we proclaimed our success in selling 303 cars and trucks in June, and expressed our sincere appreciation to the good people of Marin, when a phone call came from a staccato voice not to be denied. With hopeless resignation I agreed to give audience to this voice and wished he'd forget.

No such luck. The next day this voice, surrounded by perpetual motion and no sign of a turn-off switch, paced fitfully before my office. Within seconds he hurled a proposition at me: "How would you like to sell, instead of only 303 units, which isn't bad, 606 or even 909 cars and trucks next month?" He took a deep breath and continued, "I can positively guarantee this!"

Like all such guarantees this one carried a price tag, and my quick mental estimate was surprisingly close—$10,000.00, per month, that is. I might just as well throw in our reputation, too, because that would be the ultimate price for this questionable success.

The package included saturation blasts in radio, TV, and newspapers, a la the suede shoe operators across the bay, all of whom are nauseatingly familiar to any intelligent Marinite who vainly seeks a bit of relaxed entertainment between these onslaughts on TV. This type of barrage is calculated to herd in potential buyers by the thousands, all of whom form the particular group of individuals easily hoodwinked by silver tongued oratory and sugar-coated lies.

Our job would be to pick up the ball without fumble and lie our way through deal after deal until we had reached our astronomical goal of 606 or 909.

I think this character was genuinely surprised when I told him—quite firmly—we were not the least interested in his greedy appetite for sales generated in that manner. In as calm a voice I could muster under the circumstances, I patiently explained how comforting it was to sell "only" 303 and not cringe in anticipation of a deluge of complaints from customers upon their rude awakening. He was still shaking his head in disbelief as he left.

This disturber is only one of too many who prey upon all businessmen. They all have the same stock in trade—a glib tongue, wild promises, a short, fat contract, and a quick exit expertly timed just before the inevitable explosion and collapse.

A particularly persuasive member of this clan tried in vain to palm off his junky luggage sets as a sure-fire sales incentive. You no doubt noticed some of the dealers succumbed to his pitch and are offering this boon to prospective customers. I shudder to think of the unwary recipient who checks one of these bags through an airline.

We at Ames Ford want no assist from this direction. We intend to live in this community indefinitely, and we're happy with the response to our present efforts.

Nino And Vince Back Home

By RALPH CHATOIAN

A pair of young professional baseball players are back home in San Anselmo after completing their first year of pro ball, a first year which proved a successful one.

The two are Nino Geminiani and Vince Pallavicini, teammates on the Thomasville, Ga. baseball team of the Class D Georgia-Florida League. Thomasville is a Detroit Tiger farm club.

Nino, a right-handed hurler, finished his first campaign with an 8-win, 7-loss record. Vince, a left-handed outfielder, ended the season with a .269 batting average.

Both boys started playing ball together as youngsters in the San Anselmo Little League. Then they were teammates on Sir Francis Drake high school's baseball squad where they were discovered by Nick Kobseff, proprietor of the Rancho Nicasio Restaurant and part-time Tiger scout.

AGAIN TEAMMATES

When the two athletes were boosted to the pro ranks, as if putting frosting on the cake, they were both assigned to Thomasville, again being teammates.

The two finished the season last Friday and flew home the following day. Nino lives at 241 Butterfield Road and Vince lives at 107 Sunnyside Avenue, both in San Anselmo.

Vince and Nino were fortunate to land on a winner in their first year in the pro ranks. Thomasville won its league by some 9½ games over the second place club. The league, in its first year, was composed of only four teams.

Both boys agreed it was fielding and pitching which won the championship for Thomasville. Although the club won the league by a wide margin, there wasn't a .300 hitter on the team as the top batter was hitting at a .290 clip when the season closed.

Nino, 19, stands 6-0 and weighs 170 pounds. He calls his curve ball his best pitch, but he mixed his curve with his fast ball and change of pace during the season. He plans to develop a slider in the future.

Vince, 18, is 6-0 and 165 pounds. He said he faced quite a few fast ball pitchers at the start of the season but found he was getting more curves and sliders as the season progressed.

The pace in the league was fast, the two baseballers found. "You can't compare it with local semi-pro at all," Pallavicini explained.

Vince and Nino compared the size of Thomasville to San Rafael. They related it was an old southern town that had "complete segregation." They found the town featured by old houses, old highways and narrow streets.

There were four Negroes on the Thomasville roster who were not allowed to eat or sleep with the rest of the team when the athletes were playing road games.

Thomasville is an old southern Georgia town which completely separates the races. The two San Anselmo stars said the four Negroes on the team were required to eat in Negro restaurants and sleep in Negro hotels during the road games.

"Sometimes we would bring food to them on the buses," Vince said, apparently disturbed at the racial conditions.

The only orders given to the pair at the close of the season by their manager was to "stay in shape." They will be notified by Tiger officials as to when to report for spring practice next year.

The entire team, after winning its league, was told to expect raises for next season for their efforts. All the players on the Thomasville squad received rings and trophies for winning the loop.

Pallavicini plans to enroll at College of Marin this coming semester to start his college education. Geminiani will work during the off-season until spring practice begins. Both indicated they may play some local winter leagu ball this year.

Doug Wilson of Larkspur, the third Marin ball player in the pro circuit, collected eight hits in 32 trips to the plate last week for Fresno of the Class C California League. His batting average is .283.

Dodgers Sizzle In O'Malley's Valley, Jolt Cincinnati 5½ Games Off Pace

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

No grapes grow in O'Malley's Valley. But it is providing the Los Angeles Dodgers with the ingredients for a champagne party.

Born Chavez Ravine, rechristened O'Malley's Valley and officially dubbed Dodger Stadium, the place the Dodgers call home has turned into their main weapon in the three-team battle for the National League's blue ribbon.

The Dodgers' continued their amazing winning habit in their new ball park last night, turning back the third-place Cincinnati Reds 8-1 in the opener of a key three-game series with the defending champions for their 18th victory in the last 20 home games.

Home runs by Tommy Davis and Duke Snider, blended with the eight-hit pitching of Johnny Podres, boosted the Dodgers lead over the Reds to 5½ games and maintained their 2½-game edge over runner-up San Francisco.

The Giants kept pace by riding Juan Marichal's six-hit pitching and home runs by Willie Mays and Harvey Kuenn to a 4-3 triumph over Milwaukee.

Pittsburgh edged the Chicago Cubs 7-6 on Bill Mazeroski's eighth inning homer. Houston defeated St. Louis 4-2 and New York and Philadelphia split. The Mets won 2-0 behind Al Jackson's three-hitter before the Phillies took the nightcap 10-1 on Dennis Bennett's six-hit pitching.

The Reds got to Podres (11-10) for their run in the second inning on singles by Vada Pinson, Leo Cardenas and Gordy Coleman. In the bottom half, the Dodgers moved ahead to stay on run-producing singles by Podres and Maury Wills off Reds' starter Bob Purkey (20-5). The homers by Davis and Snider in the third and fourth, respectively, made it 4-1 and the Dodgers were on their way to victory No. 43 in 61 games at home, before a crowd of 46,536.

Trailing 6-1, the Pirates came back to tie on Roberto Clemente's two-run third-inning triple, Bill Virdon's homer in the fifth and Smoky Burgess' second sacrifice fly in the seventh. Mazeroski then clinched it with a shot off the left field scoreboard clock, tagging Cub reliever Don Elston (4-8) with the loss and giving Diomedes Olivo (3-1) the victory.

Bob Bruce (8-8) and reliever Don McMahon, who retired all 11 men he faced, combined for a five-hit pitching job that pulled the Colts to their third straight victory. Carl Warwick got Houston rolling against Cardinal starter Ernie Broglio (10-7) with a leadoff homer. The Colts put it out of reach in the fifth on a two-run double by Roman Mejias and Bob Lillis' run-producing single.

Charley Neal stroked two run-scoring singles and that was all Jackson (7-17) needed to whip the Phils in the opener, pitching his and the Mets fourth shutout. Chris Short (8-8) allowed only seven hits but took the loss. Bennett (6-9) turned things around in the nightcap as Don Demeter drove in three runs to pace a 13-hit Phils' offensive that beat Robert L. Miller (0-11).

Koufax: 'Maybe In About 10 Days'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Strikeout artist Sandy Koufax, early season mainstay of the Los Angeles Dodger pitching staff, expected today to be able to pitch in relief "in about 10 days."

Koufax hasn't pitched since mid-July because of a circulatory condition in his hand which causes numbness in his index finger of his pitching hand.

Team doctor Robert Woods said Koufax' condition was "85 per cent improved."

Dodger officials said caution would be employed in deciding when Koufax would return to the mound and it was not yet certain when he would pitch again.

Injured 49ers To See Some Action

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers look healthier for the Dallas Cowboy game Saturday night in Sacramento.

Coach Red Hickey said injured Matt Hazeltine, Jerry Mertens, Eddie Dove and Ray Norton would see at least partial action.

Mike Lopasky, draft choice from West Virginia in 1959, was placed on Waivers yesterday. He did not play in 1960 because of injuries and saw only limited action last year.

The 49ers won't go to Sacramento until Saturday morning, but the Cowboys will work out there Friday.

65 Wins Medal Play At Peacock

Mrs. Harold Dawe stroked 65, including handicap, yesterday to take medal play sweepstakes honors at Peacock Gap Golf Club.

Results were:

Class A—Mrs. Harold Dawe, 93-28—65; Mrs. Earl J. O'Grady, 91-23—68; Mrs. H. M. Lavender, 98-28—70.

Class B—Mrs. Walter C. Marty, 116-41—75; Mrs. John Sauter, 129-50—79; Mrs. Donald N. Fox, 121-41—80.

Three way tie in nine-hole putt section between Mrs. Arthur Sauter, Mrs. George Herrmann and Mrs. Robert Carpenter, 19.

Raiders Cut Last Year's Coast MVP

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — Chon Gallegos, who led the nation's passers at San Jose State last year, was put on waivers by the Oakland Raiders yesterday.

The Oaklanders also cut three other men, linebacker Elvin Basham from Kansas, halfback George Boynton from East Texas State, and tackle Bob Voight from Los Angeles State.

Voight was a two-year man and all the rest were rookies.

Joel Walenta, linebacker from Tulsa, went into service and was placed on the military reserve list.

Gallegos was named Pop Warner Award winner last year for being the most valuable player on the coast. But the 5 foot 7 inch Gallegos was just not big enough to take the pounding in the pro ranks.

Basham also won all-league and All-America honor as a collegian, but again was too stubby for the pros.

Bib 'N Tuck Wins Del Mar Feature

DEL MAR (AP)—Bib 'N Tuck stepped six furlongs in 1:09 2-5 and scored her first stakes victory of the Del Mar season yesterday.

She out-duelled Tenserino on the lead and held off the fast-closing Edie Belle by a neck at the wire. She got a good break in the weights, carrying only 111 to 121 by Edie Belle. Outfield got up for the show.

With Pete Moreno in the saddle, Bib 'N Tuck paid $8.20 to win.

The daily double paid $203.-80, with Seacourt winning the first race at $17 and Conway the second at $20.20.

Warriors Buy Forward From Detroit Pistons

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—George Lee, 6-foot-4 forward, was purchased from the Detroit Pistons by the San Francisco Warriors, the National Basketball Association clubs announced yesterday.

Lee is a two-year NBA veteran from the University of Michigan. He averaged 12.1 points per game his rookie season and 7.6 last year.

COLTS CALL ON MAGIC TO HELP IN PHIL SERIES

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Young Kid Dugan, the hex man from Hot Springs, Ark., has been engaged by the Houston Colts to put the whammy on the Philadelphia Phillies in a three-game series opening Monday. Houston never has been able to beat the Phillies.

Dugan said by long distance telephone he has already gone to work for the Colts.

"I had my transcontinental eye working for them Sunday in the Cincy series," Dugan said. "I concentrated on Frankie Robinson, the Red's star, and put the whammy on him good.

"This was good practice for me and I've got a certain player picked out on the Philly team that I am already working on."

The Phillies have beaten the Colts 15 straight games.

Novato Approves $420,505 Budget 30-Cent Tax Rate

Novato city councilmen last night approved a final budget for 1962-63 of $420,505 and set a tax rate of 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation, after hearing an argument from Councilman Everett Pozzi that Novato ought to up the tax rate because "the city doesn't have any services to offer."

The tax rate, the same as last year, applies to all property owners except those living in the Monte Maria tax assessment district, who will pay a total of 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The additional 45 cents is for special services to the district, formed before the city incorporated and now surrounded by it.

The revenue from taxes is expected to total an estimated $54,255. Residents will pay 15 cents for the street lighting tax, 10 cents for parks and recreation tax, and five cents toward the general fund. Last year's budget totaled $353,940. City Administrator J. Julien Baget said that this year's total budget will include approximately $100,115 from state sales tax and $18,000 from local franchise tax.

Councilmen agreed to put five cents of the 20 cent rate originally planned for street lighting into the general fund after observing that the 20 cent rate would bring in more money than necessary for planned lighting improvements.

The council then agreed to hire a planning commissioner three months earlier than planned, near the end of December, after hearing an argument from Pozzi that "we don't have anything to offer in Novato. I've found this out when I've talked to people about annexation. 'All you have is a police station,' they say. 'We can get the rest from the county.' We need a planning commissioner and an engineer. I say tax the people to get more money."

The city currently uses services of the county planning department.

JOSEPH LATTERI

Parents Report Terra Linda Boy Missing From Home Since Aug. 19

A 13-year-old Terra Linda boy has been missing since Aug. 19, his parents told the Independent-Journal today.

He is Joseph E. Latteri, the son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Joseph A. Latteri of 654 Barberry Lane. Young Joe is 5 feet, 3 inches and weighs about 120 pounds. He is the oldest of 10 children of the Latteri family.

"We kept hoping he would come back," said Mrs. Latteri.

"I'm worried that he might get hurt," said his father.

Lt. Col. Latteri, a medical doctor for the Army, returned on schedule from 13-month active duty in Korea three days after his son left home. The colonel's next duty assignment is San Antonio, Tex., where he and his family will take up residence next Tuesday.

Mrs. Latteri said her son left home with a sleeping bag, some food and about $25 sometime between 11 p.m. Aug. 19, and 2 a.m. Aug. 20.

"I last saw him watching the late news on television. When I got up to give the baby a bottle at 2 a.m. he was gone," said his mother.

Both parents suggested that Joe may not have wanted to leave his friends in Marin, and conjecture that he may still be somewhere in the county.

"If he's not around here, he may be either in Seattle, Los Angeles or St. Louis, where we have relatives," said the parents.

Joe is described as a friendly, hard-working youth.

RADIATION BELT WON'T CHANGE SPACE PLANS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A hydrogen-bomb created belt of radiation will not change plans for astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.'s scheduled six-orbit flight next month.

The space agency said it is going ahead, at least for the time being, with preparations for Schirra's launch in the last half of September.

The man-made belt of radiation was created by the July 9 explosion of a hydrogen bomb above Johnston Island in the Pacific.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said it appears unlikely that Schirra's flight path would take him through any great concentration of electrons in the new belt.

Doctor Jailed; Wife Tortured With Acid

SAN JOSE (UPI) — A young doctor mutilated his pretty bride of five weeks with surgical instruments and poured deadly nitric acid over her body last night because she wanted to go back to a modeling job, police reported today.

Police arrested Dr. Geza De Kaplany, 36, an anesthetist, when he called them to his apartment where his wife was lying bound and nude on the floor, screaming with pain.

ACCUSED HER

The woman, Mrs. Hajna De Kaplany, 25, told a detective her husband became enraged when she returned from San Francisco where she had inquired about a modeling job. She said he accused her of infidelity, then stripped her and cut her breasts with a surgical instrument before pouring the acid on her.

Attendants at Santa Clara County Hospital said Mrs. De Kaplany was in "very critical condition" from the acid burns.

The anesthetist had called the police himself and was waiting in the couple's apartment when they arrived. His wife, nude and bound with electrical wire, lay writhing with pain near her bed.

POURED ACID

Officers said De Kaplany had poured the contents of the acid bottle over her body. They said other containers on a dresser nearby had sulphuric and hydrocloric acid in them but he had apparently not used them.

Mrs. De Kaplany said she had gone to San Francisco, 50 miles north, yesterday in response to a call from a modeling agency for which she formerly worked, according to police. She said her husband had objected to the trip, but she went anyway.

De Kaplany was booked early today on charges of attempted murder.

Mill Valley Council Sets Tax Meeting

The Mill Valley City Council will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. to set the 1962-63 tax rate and approve the current year's budget, Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks said today.

The meeting will be in City Manager A. E. Almcrants' office.

Macy's loves the campus looks this fall

How exciting to be young and campus-bound. The clothes for these important years should reflect the lively sparkle of your fun-filled days. And Macy's combed the market to come up with the most important looks to dazzle a campus. Here is just a sampling of the young-hearted looks to be seen first at Macy's and then on the most knowledgeable coeds this fall. All bear the modest Macy's pricetags that prove good fashion need not be expensive.

A—The jumper achieves new importance in many styles. Here a gray/camel plaid draws to a tie at the waist, 16.98; the rib knit turtle neck sweater underneath is equally at home with skirts and slacks, 12.98

B—The knee-high jumper has low belted pleats, antique brass buttons, 15.98; the natural accompaniment is a trim shirt of paisley cotton, 3.98

C—The snuggly jacket in orlon acrylic pile lined with tyrolean print cotton quilt lining, braid trim and heraldic metal buttons. By White Stag, 25.95; with the trimmest of tapered slacks tailored with instep straps to fit like ski pants, 11.98

D—Study the classics with a brass-buttoned crested blazer, 15.98, topping a long sleeve Classic pullover by Garland, 10.98 Garland's look and stitched pleat wool flannel skirt, 9.98

E—Borrowed from the Navy, the brass-buttoned pea jacket has a rich new swagger in pile-lined cotton suede, 15.98; shown with a pleated kilt of tartan plaid, 12.98

St. Rita's Festival To Feature Delicacies From Country Kitchen

The annual St. Rita's Festival in Fairfax will be held on the Labor Day Weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and is open to the public.

A new booth has been added to the Festival—a Country Kitchen—white-trellised, pink-flowered, and offering homemdae delicacies from the many country kitchens in St. Rita's parish. Featured items are homemade jams and jellies, pickled vegetables and relishes, spiced fruits, chutneys, cookies, candy, nut breads, herbs, and shelled and spiced nuts.

This is a pioneer project for St. Rita's and working along with Mrs. John Reid as coordinator are: the Madames Tom Gaona, Edward Chouinard, Keith Yetter, Lawrence McCormack, Alfred Rustice, Joseph DePatta, Daniel Miller, Edwin Ezeckiel, Tom Lococo, Don Brewer, Daniel Dever, Aurillio Briones, Robert Witts, and Relius Dorius. These workers have encouraged many of the women in the Parish to once again resume the rewarding pleasure of preserving and canning, and are sharing the following treasured family recipes:

SPICED GRAPES

These are wonderful for the coming holidays and are delicious served with meat, poultry, or fish. Submitted by: Mrs. Tom Gaona.

- 3 cups sugar
- 1 cup white vinegar
- ½ tsp. cardamon seeds
- ¾ tsp. nutmeg
- ½ tsp. ginger
- ½ tsp. cinnamon
- ¼ tsp. sweet basil
- 4 lb. seedless white grapes

Put sugar, vinegar, and all the spices in a saucepan. Cook to the boiling point, then boil 6 minutes. Remove from heat and let cool until grapes are prepared. Syrup is very thick at this point. Wash grapes, pat dry, and pull grapes off stems. Cut each grape in half lengthwise.

Reheat spiced syrup until small bubbles appear on surface. Add grapes, cook for several minutes. Grapes should be slightly tender but not soft. Ladle into sterilized pint jars and seal. Let stand a day or two to develop flavor. Makes 6 pint jars.

PICKLED ONIONS

Simple to prepare and submitted by Mrs. Robert Ghiringhelli whose grandmother has delighted the family with this specialty for years.

Fill as many pint jars with sliced Bermuda onions as desired.

Add apple cider vinegar

To each jar add ¼ tsp. pickling spices.

Allow to stand for three or four days. Eat chilled.

CHILI SAUCE

Mrs. Keith Yetter recommends this sauce to be served with pot roasts or hamburgers.

- 1 peck (8 quarts) ripe tomatoes—peeled
- 6 large onions chopped fine
- 2 green peppers chopped fine
- 4 cups cider vinegar
- ½ tsp. red pepper
- 3 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. ginger
- ½ tsp. cloves
- 3 tbsp. salt
- 1 tbsp. chili powder
- 1½ cups brown sugar or to taste.

Cut up tomatoes and heat. Drain off 1 quart or more of water that rises to the top. Add other ingredients and simmer slowly for 3 or 4 hours, or until desired consistency. It will thicken slightly as it cools. Ladle into hot, sterilized jars. Makes 16 pints.

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES

Mrs. Edward Chouinard has submitted this pickle recipe.

- 1 gallon sliced cucumbers—very thin (not peeled)
- 6 onions (medium) sliced thin
- 3 cloves garlic sliced thin
- 1 green pepper
- 1 red pepper
- ⅓ cup salt
- 3 cups white vinegar
- 5 cups white sugar
- 1½ tsp. tumeric
- 1½ tsp. celery seed
- 2 tbls. mustard seed

Slice cucumber paper thin, also onions and garlic. Add salt. Cover with ice. Let stand 3 hours. Drain. Combine remaining ingredients. Pour over pickles. Heat to boil. Pack hot. Seal. Yield: 7 pints.

WINE JELLY

Gourmet item by Mrs. George Croke.

- 2 cups of wine
- 3 cups of sugar
- ½ bottle Certo

(Sherry, Burgundy, Sauterne, Port, Tokay, Muscatel or any of the fruit or berry wines may be used.

Measure wine and sugar into top part of double boiler; mix well. Place over rapidly boiling water and heat 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from water and at once stir in Certo. Pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes 5 6-ounce glasses.

SPICED WATERMELON PICKLES

Mrs. Edward Chouinard delights her family and friends with these pickles.

- 1½ quarts cubed watermelon rind (2 lbs.)
- 3 tbsp. salt
- 3 qts. water
- 8 cups granulated sugar
- 2 cups vinegar
- 2 tbsp. whole cloves
- 2 tbsp. whole allspice
- 6 3-inch sticks cinnamon

Select rind from firm—not over-ripe melon. Before measuring, trim off green skin and pink flesh and cut rind in 1¼ cubes. Soak overnight in salt and 1 quart water. Drain. Cover with fresh water and cook until tender. Drain. Boil together remaining 2 qts. water, sugar, vinegar and spices which have been tied in a piece of cheesecloth for 5 minutes. Add melon rind and cook until transparent or about 45 minutes. Remove spice bag. Turn immediately into hot sterilized jars. Seal. Yield: 6 pints.

Barbecued Boats' For Novel Desserts

Want to treat your guests to a special barbecued dessert?

After the main dish is grilled over wood charcoal briquets, follow it with a chocolate "boat" dessert. It will please children and adults alike.

The children will enjoy preparing it while mom sets the table and dad presides over the charcoal fire.

The ingredients of this ressert are vanilla wafers spread lightly with jam, miniature marshmallows and semi-sweet chocolate morsels tucked in between.

Place the stacked wafters with their tasty cargo on their side atop strips of aluminum foil. Fold up the foil to look like small boats. Place on the grill over the charcoal fire until the chocolate and marshmallows begin to melt and the flavors merge. A chocolate sauce or ice cream is a good topper for this dessert.

The wood charcoal fire will be warm enough after the main dish is removed to do these to perfection.

CHOCOLATE BARBECUED BOATS

For each "boat" prepare an aluminum foil container 5 to 6 inches long with 1-inch sides. Pinch ends together. Stack 5 vanilla wafers spreading each with jam. Place on their side in foil container. Separate wafers and sprinkle jam layers with miniature marshmallows and semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Place foil "boats" over low heat approximately 10 minutes,, or until marshmallows and chocolate soften.

Spicy Tastes Vary Nationwide

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mustard preferences vary geographically in the United States, says a major producer of prepared mustard.

Texans like their barbecue hot but go for mild mustard, said French's. This preference runs about nine to one in Texas and other parts of the South, the Southwest and the West Coast.

Dark strong mustard is most favored in major metropolitan areas of the East.

The popularity of horseradish mustard varies with ethnic groups. It is greatest in communities where there are many persons of German, Polish and other Central European backgrounds. Such areas include Buffalo, N.Y., Minneapolis and St. Louis.

Almond-Honey Butter

Spread almond-honey butter on muffins for a hot bread to go with summer fresh fruit plates. Whip honey and butter together. Add chopped or slivered almonds and coconut flakes. Spread on split English muffins and broil until bubbly, or serve with wedges of hot toast.

Zesty Spaghetti Sauce

The good cook who helps us test recipes makes this spaghetti sauce and her children welcome it.

Mary Greene's Spaghetti
Salad Bowl French Bread
Fruit and Cookies Beverage

MARY GREENE'S SPAGHETTI

- 1 tablespoon salad oil
- 1 large onion (chopped)
- 1 small green pepper (chopped)
- 1 large clove garlic (crushed)
- 1 pound ground beef
- ½ cup minced parsley
- 1 can (2 pounds, 3 ounces) Italian-style tomatoes with tomato paste
- 1 can (10½ ounces) mushroom gravy
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- Salt and pepper to taste

In a large heavy saucepan heat the oil. Odd onion, green pepper and garlic; cook over medium heat, stirring often, until vegetables are softened. Add beef; mash wtih a fork until red color disappears. Add parsley, tomatoes with their juice, mushroom gravy, sugar, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, for about 30 minutes to make 1½ quarts or about 1 hour to make one quart. Serve sauce over hot cooked spaghetti and pass grated Parmesan cheese. Refrigerate leftover sauce in tightly covered container.

Too Much Work Injures Freezer

URBANA, Ill. (UPI)—You may be tempted to overload your freezer during the summer when fruits and vegetables are so plentiful.

If you don't know the freezer capacity, check the instruction book. It will list the load and also give directions that should be followed.

Frances Van Duyne, University of Illinois director of foods research, said overloading slows down freezing and may endanger the quality of foods by raising the freezer temperature.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

What To Feed Hubby's Boss

WHEN IT'S time to ask your husband's boss and his wife to dinner, what to serve?

A dish that is interesting but safe. Unless you are sure of your guests' testes, this is definitely not the moment to offer something offbeat.

The chances are that nothing will be amiss if you choose a main course from classic European cuisine—something that has appealed to a wide variety of diners through the years.

Chicken is always safe, and it can be interesting. Take the following recipe adapted from the Spanish cuisine. Guests usually enjoy a while chicken breast, offering plenty of meat, plus a delicately flavored sauce that includes seedless grapes. The grapes, by the way, are used in much the same way in a classic French chicken dish.

If you plan a rich dessert, be sure to have fruit—and perhaps cheese and crackers—on hand. This advice was not always necessary, but nowadays weight-watchers are omnipresent. Then if a calorie-counter gives in to temptation, that's his or her affair!

Above all, have a rehearsal. Try a new recipe on your husband before you serve it to his boss. I'm a food writer, but not a soothsayer! I suggest recipes that have been approved by a number of people, but your own family's particular tastes and judgment are always involved in whether or not a dish is suitable for you to serve.

STUFFED CHICKEN BREASTS

- 4 whole chicken breasts (boned)
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- ¼ cup finely diced cooked ham
- ¼ cup minced garlic-flavored sausage
- 1 tablespoon minced onion
- 1¼ teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- ¼ cup olive oil
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 cup cold chicken stock
- 2 cups seedless grapes.

Wash and dry chicken, inside and out, with paper toweling. Mix together the bread crumbs, ham, sausage, onion and ¼ teaspoon of the salt. Divide stuffing mixture evenly over inside of chicken breasts; sew or tie together the open edges with heavy white thread, or skewer closed. Mix together the remaining 1 teaspoon salt, paprika and olive oil; rub surface of chicken breasts with a little of the mixture. Place in shallow baking pan. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until tender and lightly browned—about 30 minutes; spread remaining olive oil mixture over chicken during baking. Remove chicken and keep warm. Gradually stir chicken stock into cornstarch, keeping smooth; add to chicken drippings in baking pan; stir over low heat until slightly thickened and clear; strain. Return sauce to skillet or saucepan; add grapes and heat gently and briefly. Serve chicken with sauce plus steamed rice. Makes four servings.

Keeps It Cool—Or Hot

NEW YORK (UPI)—The layer insulation principle used in refrigerators makes a new picnic jug for hot and cold liquids extra efficient. The lightweight, extra rigid, non-staining jug is made with a one-inch fiberglas blanket sandwiched between a two-layer shell of rigid high density linear polyethylene. The inner liner is seamless and easily cleaned, and a drinking cup is included under the cap. The jug also has an aluminum handle. It comes with spigot, shoulder spout, or plain.

DAILY Independent-Journal Est. 1861
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

24 EDITORIAL PAGE Wed., Aug. 29, 1962 San Rafael, Calif.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

It's Up To You To Ensure Fire Doesn't Start In Marin

It doesn't do any good to get scared; but it does a lot of good to be careful.

"Fire Hits Lake County's Resorts, Hundreds Flee"

"Fire Road Blocked In 10-Acre Blaze"

"Dry Heat Threatens Marin"

That last headline is the one which should cause you to stop and think.

Right here in Marin—here, now, today—the danger is increasing that we could have a serious fire, one like that still burning in Lake County.

The weather has multiplied the danger already made serious by a relatively dry season, one in which all the rain came at once, making the grass grow, but no late rain to keep it green.

Now, with high temperatures and low humidity, the Marin countryside is ripe for a disastrous blaze if it is given a chance.

That's where you come in.

In these last days of summer vacation, when there is still time for one more picnic, one more hike, or one more motor trip into the hills, you can and must be aware of the fire hazard and take precautions.

One carelessly tossed cigarette, one campfire left unattended, one spark from a match in the hands of children, one auto backfire into a hillside—catastrophy.

As we indicated, we're not trying to scare you to death. Instead we hope only to make you think and be aware that you are responsible—as is everyone else—for seeing to it that a grass or brush fire doesn't get started in Marin.

And as for that story about the fire road being intentionally blocked: such action is criminal. Of course you shouldn't do it (and we don't think you would). But you could be of real service to your community if you should happen to see such a road block and report it immediately to the county fire department.

REVERSES AN UNWISE DECISION

Robbery can be habit-forming, reflected a man who had just stolen $163 from a beauty parlor. So, after a conscience-stricken night, he surrendered to the police.

The 29-year-old clerk explained to the judge that the one reason above all others that impelled him toward honesty was the thought of the effect on his three small sons.

He said he could not bear to have them hurt if he, their father, led the life of a criminal.

Because the man had no police record, he was released on parole.

An old French proverb contains this ageless truth: "There is no pillow so soft as a clear conscience."

Even those who seemingly escape punishment for their wrong-doing are aware, deep within them, that their crimes will catch up with them either in time or in eternity.

Keep asking yourself, "What can I do to improve the world?" and you will have less worry about a bad conscience.

"He who judges me is the Lord."
(1 Corinthians 4:4)

Make me quick to understand the promptings of Your grace, O Lord, and faithful in carrying them out.

Bagley-Carrow Debate Sept. 24; Gov. Brown Dinner Here Sept. 21

By CHAPIN A. DAY

There's been so much going on in connection with the Democratic state convention in Sacramento (I've still got lots of information I'll pass on later) that things at home have been ganging up on me.

'CHIP' DAY

We're told that a debate has been scheduled for Sept. 24 by the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce between Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R) and Attorney Robert Carrow (D).

Bagley had promised before the primaries that he would debate with Carrow, so we're glad that Ed Wachsman was successful in putting this together for the benefit of, we hope, a much larger group than might ordinarily attend a Jaycee affair.

ANOTHER BIG event which has more or less snuck up on us is the Democratic fund raising dinner at which Gov. Edmund G. Brown is scheduled to be the main attraction.

It has been set for Sept. 21 at the Meadow Club with a cocktail party to precede the event at the Jerome Flax home in Ross. We'll undoubtedly hear more about this in the next three weeks.

WE ALSO HEAR that the Marin Democratic Assembly is planning an "issues conference" on Oct. 13 at College of Marin.

I'm not so sure about that date; does the MDA recall that that's the day of the Civic Center dedication—and there's just a bare possibility still existing (don't count on it) that President Kennedy might change his mind and be here?

THIS MAY NOT be a political item, unless you consider digit dialing—

A friend of mine needed some medicine and decided to phone the pharmacy to get the prescription renewed.

She sat down and dialed—the prescription number.

Luckily no one answered.

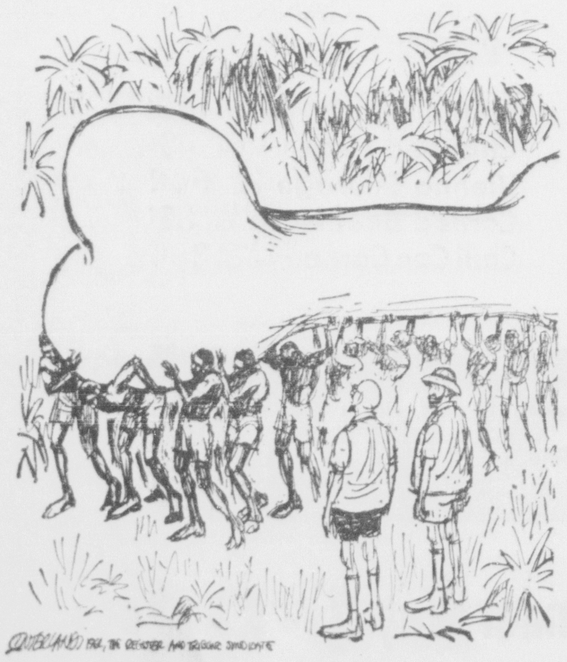

CAN'T LET A WHOLE column go by without at least mentioning the Democratic convention!

Biggest cheer Sen. Clair Engle got during his speech to the State Central Committee was when he departed from his text to say Governor Brown had shown a humane concern for human life when he "sweated out" the hours leading up to the execution of Chessman.

But the biggest laugh he got was unintentional. Describing the problems the governor faced on taking office, he thundered:

"The burdens upon our schools, our roads and our public welfare facilities were growing by leaps and Browns—er, leaps and bounds."

THE CYNIC'S CORNER By Interlandi

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Transaction Tax Shifts Tax Load

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

P. J. Rowland's letter appearing in the I-J of Aug. 8 advocates a transaction tax for Marin County.

Mr. Rowland uses several paragraphs replete with large money figures and percentage calculations to leave the impression that a transaction tax would lower everyone's taxes, yet not reduce revenue to the county. Obviously, this is just not possible.

What Mr. Rowland is proposing, then, is merely a shift in the responsibility for paying taxes. Inquisitive people will wonder:

Who would pay more taxes?

Who would pay less taxes?

What would be the effect of this proposed shift in tax responsibility?

The last paragraph of Mr. Rowland's letter states, " . . . it (the transaction tax) taxes all sales, all services performed for pay, all rentals paid."

The proposed tax, then, would be in addition to the existing transaction tax (known as the sales tax) already charged on many items. In addition, other items would be taxed under the new transaction tax, among them, drugs and medicine (only recently untaxed because of the unwillingness of citizens to continue taxing illness), doctor bills, dentist bills, hospital bills, rent and food.

Who would pay more taxes?

People who are sick or have babies, people who rent, people who EAT! Most adversely affected would be older people who suffer more illness, and young couples not yet financially able to afford their own home, who would be paying the new tax on rentals while they are paying the new tax on babies.

Would young couples with new tax responsibilities ever be able to save enough money to buy a home in Marin County? It's hard enough now! If they made it though, then right off, they'd have to pay the new transaction tax . . .

Who would pay less taxes?

"It does not tax ownership except for the original purchase." Owners of property could hold the property out of use, forever if they chose, and never pay a cent in taxes. Most significantly, owners of land would be included in this privileged "untaxed" group.

It is common occurrence now for land to sell at 20 or 30 times its value of only a few years ago—even with taxes charged on ownership.

Under present taxing policies, the amount of tax on land is, to some extent, determined by the site value of the land.

Site value is that portion of value the land derives from its location, that is, its proximity to roads and highways, schools, markets, utilities, airports, railroads, shopping facilities built at public expense for public use or facilities built with private capital to serve the public. The landholder, or land speculator, as such, plays no part in this community growth, except for the now inadequate tax he pays on the site value of his land. Yet, he is the chief beneficiary of these activities through ever inflating land values.

It is widely recognized in the building industry and elsewhere, that the chief impediment to further development is the already-inflated price of land.

If the tax pressure to sell land was completely removed, as proposed in the transaction tax plan, the sky would be the limit on future land prices . . .

Taxes are an expensive item. Everyone wants taxes reduced, but regardless of possible economies, we know that taxes will remain high with the great demand for highways, schools, parks, and other public facilities.

Our present system of paying taxes bears some similarity to the concept of buying on credit. We pay taxes on property as we use the property. There are many advantages to this system. One of them is that, since we pay taxes on property every year anyway, there is no sudden penalty for a transaction in property. If we want to buy a more expensive house (and contribute to the economic growth), the increase in taxes is of practically no concern.

An even more important feature of annual payment of taxes is the opportunity afforded the community to keep the tax on land in conformity with site values created by the community. This method of taxation tends to keep land use at its most productive level to the benefit of the community . . .

Is it fair to tax land according to its site value? . . . A tax on the site value of land is merely the community's insistence that it be paid a just return on the value it creates.

A reasonable tax plan to insure economic health and growth would be just opposite to the transaction tax proposal. Get the tax on land into more reasonable relationship to actual site values and use the increased revenue to reduce taxes on transactions (growth and productivity) as much as possible.

Hope Monorail Will Be Used

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I have been watching how the millions are going to be spent for transportation. As yet I have not heard anything about what kind of transportation is going to be used to get us around so fast.

I am led to believe we shall have a monorail, but so far I have not seen a letter where they come right out and state it positively will be a monorail. Can you show me a letter in which it states it will positively be a monorail?

We are spending a whale of a lot of money. To date I only know that Walt Disney is using it and the Seattle Fair. Can you give me the name of any large user of the monorail anywhere?

This is a lot of money we are going to lay out. I only hope that the monorail is what they are going to use. I think we should get a letter from some municipality that has used the monorail for years with good results. If it has not had a lot of use, a lot of money is going to be spent.

I think we should know a lot more than we at present know about monorail. Is it possible they have some other method that we do not know of? How about it?

I may be wrong, but at this time I only know one outfit in Europe that knows a lot about it? I think Berlin has had some experiences with the monorail.

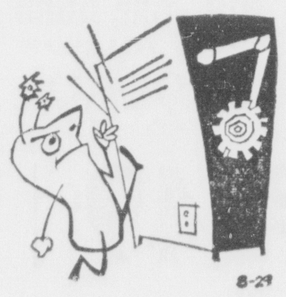

GEORGE WINTER SONBORN
Novato

(NOTE: The Bay Area Rapid Transit District is not at present considering using monorail. The "whale of a lot of money" the district hopes to spend on transit doesn't include Marin taxpayers because we have dropped out of the district.)

Martians, insists Mike Connolly, can get jealous, too. He gives as an example the pinpoint-headed Martian who kicked an IBM machine and snarled, "If I can't have you, nobody will"—and pulled out the plug.

Bob Sylvester tell about an actor who played Josef Stalin in three successive motion pictures. "My boy looks so much like Stalin," boasted his agent, "that twice in the past month while he was sleeping somebody moved his body."

Herb Stein says the Hollywood definition of roughing it is to turn the electric blanket down to medium. He also heard a patient tell his analyst, "My wife and I are slowly drifting apart, Doctor. Can you suggest anything to speed it up?"

You Get Pleasant Reception, Kind Word When You Visit West Marin

There isn't a nicer place to bother people than Marin County. I speak from worldwide experience as a journalistic pest.

What the population explosion will do to all our good humor, I can't say. But Marin still has open spaces and an easy trusting way with strangers, even when they're in imported sports cars.

As a matter of fact, the artless native you're talking to may turn out to own a sports car himself and be all primed for lots of cubic-centimeter chatter.

A MILL VALLEY resident myself, I'm just back from a tour of West Marin. That is the area which has been overloading my innards with the milk of human kindness. From Stinson Beach to Tomales, the folk are kindly. Not one of them held it against me that I was from the effete East—East Marin, I mean.

But courtesy in this county isn't a matter of geography. Half a day away from the office brought me several thoughtful memos on matters ranging from news for the paper to the personal availability of a shipment of fresh crab.

Things used to be like that in San Francisco. It's been more than 40 years since I worked there. Both of us seem to have changed, probably not for the better in either case.

I'VE LIVED in a good many cities since that day. What bothers me is that now San Francisco begins to seem like most of the others, aside from its skyline. And the best place to see that is from Marin County.

About West Marin, it certainly isn't a place like New York, "nice to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there." (For me, New York isn't even a nice place to visit.)

My trip over that way wasn't the usual aimless jaunt, but for news purposes, to explore the liveability of the area. It left me half-way wishing I had a second home over that way myself, especially one with a sailboat moored at its edge.

It so happens that by no merit of my own, I'm cashing in on the forethought of wife, Agnes, who many years ago found a lovely place having everything but sailboat facilities. (You can't do much sailing from the top of a high ridge.)

But I had no trouble in seeing why others seek and find a lot of fine living available over in West Marin. It's a pleasure just to roam along the edge of their pleasant existences.

WEST MARIN has aspects of the old frontier, I'd say. I don't suppose you should go over expecting a snack and bed anywhere you drop in, but you certainly get a pleasant reception and a kind word.

On their native heath you'd never suspect that these were the wild protestors I see boiling in on the county planning commission or the board of supervisors with teeth bared and fists flailing. Let's not even think about it.

At home, and resting—they rest a good deal over in West Marin—these are certainly easy, wonderful people who seem to be great neighbors.

HAVING WRITTEN the foregoing, let me put on my coat and go home to study one of the few atmospheres of disharmony I have found in Marin County.

This has nothing to do with wife Agnes and myself, except as spectators. I refer to the birds and bees, from whom I've heard much can be learned. So far, I have learned mostly about how to fight while on the wing. No great use to me.

We have put up a humming-bird feeder on a California live oak. It is heavily patronized by both hummers and hornets, a mighty competitive lot. They chase one another around the tree and every time one party starts taking a drink the other makes trouble.

In fact their behaviour is almost as bad as that of most humans living elsewhere than in Marin.

Argentina On Brink Of Disaster Wishing For An Eisenhower

BUENOS AIRES—The attitude of the Kennedy administration toward Latin American dictatorships may face its severest test here any moment.

Argentina's semi-civilian, semi-military government is visibly disintegrating. An outright take-over by the military is in the making, and there is nothing on the horizon likely to arrest the trend.

This will confront Washington anew with the hard choice of whether to recognize and to continue Alliance for Progress economic aid to a regime dominated by the generals and shorn of the last vestige of constitutional framework.

THE PRESENT government of President Jose Maria Guido is in office only at the sufferance of the military. Because the Argentine generals have themselves fallen into apparently hopeless disunity and rivalry, there is grave doubt that even the shell of a civilian cabinet can survive.

The plight in which the Argentine people find themselves today is largely the legacy of Juan Peron, the dictator who bought the loyalty of most of the nation's working people by profligate spending.

PERON NOT ONLY saddled his nation with unbearable debts, but left it so class-ridden that the beneficiaries of his rule remain an embittered and nearly disfranchised social group of large proportions. Not one of the democratically oriented political parties has been able to win more than the merest handful of the Peronists who still number at least 2,500,000.

Recently ousted President Arturo Frondizi thought he was popular enough and strong enough to best the Peronists at the polls. When the voters were counted in the Congressional and local elections this spring, the Peronista candidates were winning nearly everywhere. To avert what is feared was an oncoming Peronista dictatorship, the military forced Frondizi to quit, cancelled the election returns, and installed Guido at the head of an uncertain and fragile civilian-front government.

BUT LATELY the Argentine generals have been falling out among themselves.

Only a trusted national leader above party would seem to have any chance of welding together this divided nation and this divided people. Obviously what is needed is a kind of Argentine "Eisenhower" who could restrain the military and command respect.

Many with whom I talked here in Buenos Aires believe that such a figure is retired Gen. Pedro Aramburu, who served as President in the provisional government which succeeded Peron and who kept his promise to see that the government was turned over to the elected President.

If he is prepared to run for President—and in a long conversation I had with him he left no doubt in my mind that he would be more than willing to do so—he would almost certainly provide the unifying force.

THE FOURTH GENERATION

Young Soviets Not Measuring Up To Communist Ideal

By DAVID MILLER

MOSCOW — A generation born and nurtured under the realties of Marxism-Leninism is beginning to mature in a world torn by the most convulsive struggle in modern history.

Who are they, these teenagers and young adults on whom the hopes of the Soviet Union and communism rest? Is there really a "new" Soviet man, a figure idealized as mankind's wave of the future?

Of all the criteria used to evaluate the Soviet Union, few are as important to the West. The consequences are enormous, for an integral part of Soviet philosophy is Lenin's dictum that a new kind of man will throw off the vestiges of present bourgeois life and emerge as a cleansed, heroic figure.

By any test of courage and technical excellence, the Soviet Union's four cosmonauts meet every requirement. Near them must be ranked thousands of others, the lesser known who are dedicated to building a new society.

But the same cannot be said of the broad base of young Soviets. Interest in the material far outweighs the spiritual appeal of sacrifice and devotion which once explained every inconvenience and shortage.

Young people in increasing numbers are leaving the rugged, primitive life of the virgin lands, the massive attempt to bring agricultural fruits to marginal land. The hardships are simply too much.

Fewer and fewer young Soviets willingly accept assignments in the desolate Far East. The best jobs are in Moscow and Leningrad—and everyone knows it.

So few young Soviets have gone into teaching Marxism-Leninism that a serious shortage has developed both on the university level and in Communist party and youth organizations.

Membership in Komsomol, the Young Communist League, has remained relatively unchanged for the past eight years, despite an increasing pool of potential members. For every Soviet between 14 and 28 who joins, two do not.

Enrollment stands at 19.4 million (of the 52 million eligible), but only because the minimum age was lowered last April from 15 to 14 and penalties for lax members were downgraded. No one now is expelled because of failure to pay dues. The older members continue to leave.

Young writers, although praised for their freshness, lack of prejudice, and personal observation, are continually criticized for their inability to think "profoundly, largely, and socially."

In all of the new Soviet literature there has yet to emerge a single figure capable of being regarded as a heroic representation of the new generation. The older generation finds the characterization intellectually and socially immature.

Penalties for juvenile delinquency have been increased with the creation of special courts authorized to confine children from age 11 to 19 in special "educational institutions."

The Soviets themselves know all of these things only too well. Their information comes from official Soviet sources — the government-controlled press — and reflects a concern that cannot be hidden.

This "fourth generation," a phrase that began to circulate in Moscow last summer, was brought up under the slogans and banners of a revolution already won.

But the stereotype of "capitalist colonialism," which once seemed so pointed and all-consuming, now seems terribly out of date in an era made enormously complex by political and technological change.

Young Soviets have lived through the denouement of the infallible Stalin — the man ordinary Soviets call "he who was" and the Soviet press calls the "head of the Soviet state at that time."

For these youngsters witnessed the bewilderment of parents exposed to the bitter revelations of the cult of personality. It is more than possible that all this has made the younger generation cynical and resentful of an older generation that failed.

But the road ahead is far from clear.

Second Annual Mozart Fete Set Sept. 9

The Homestead Valley Improvement Club announces the second annual Mozart Festival will take place on Sunday, Sept. 9, at 2 p.m. in Stolte Grove, Homestead Valley, near Mill Valley.

The Bach to Mozart chamber players, who have performed for the Candlelight Concerts at Brown's Hall in Mill Valley during the last two winters, will augment their number to 20 musicians to offer a varied program of Baroque music.

Mrs. Martin Goldschmidt, concert chairman, reports plans are under way to present a wind octet by Mozart from "The Abduction From the Seraglio," a motet by Mozart with one soprano, cantatas by Scarlatti and an overture by the English composer Boyce.

Stolte Grove is ideally suited for outdoor concerts, with its redwoods and picnic grounds at the front of the grove. Though the concert begins at 2 p.m., those who wish may come early and picnic. Food and drinks may be purchased at the grove.

Chairs will be provided for about 200 persons. Others are encouraged to bring cushions or rugs for sitting on the ground.

This is a benefit concert provided through the transcription fund of the Musicians' Union, Local No. 6, AFL-CIO. Voluntary donations will be used to improve Brown's Hall.

Novato School Beginners, Teachers To Meet

Supt. James G. Bunker said children enrolled in the morning kindergarten session at Marion School, Olive School, Rancho School or West Novato School may visit their school from 10 a.m. to noon with their parents.

Those in the afternoon session and their parents will visit from 1 to 3 p.m.

Air Force Needs German Shepherds

German shepherd dogs are needed to guard Air Force Nike missile defense sites throughout the Bay Area and at other defense sites throughout the United States.

A request for the dogs, which will be purchased and shipped for training to the U.S. Air Force Sentry Dog School in Texas, has been announced at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The dogs should be purebred German shepherds from one to three years, weighing at least 60 pounds and standing 23 inches or more high at the shoulders. Females must be spayed 90 days before acceptance. Interested dog owners should write Fred Wilson, animal procurement office, Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Potato Rancher Dies In Fiery Air Crash

TULELAKE (AP) — A potato rancher, diving a light plane over his chilled field to stir the air and ward off frost damage, crashed and died in the flaming wreckage yesterday.

He was Gayle Johnson, 35, one of the 1949 homesteaders who, as World War II veterans, took part in a drawing for the newly reclaimed and irrigated land.

Venereal Disease Forum

Dr. Mary Jo Tonneli, assistant Marin County health officer, and Miss Philippa Denning-Kemp, Marin County venereal disease investigator, will attend a world forum on syphilis Tuesday through Saturday of next week in Washington, D.C.

Insurance Star Club

Douglas R. Tangen, 168 Palm Avenue, San Rafael, has won membership in the 1962 Star Club of the New York Life Insurance Co. This makes him eligible to attend a company sponsored conference in Vancouver Sept. 12 through 15 with other leading agents of the firm.

Marinites Elected To Accountant Posts

Two Marin County residents have been elected to offices in the San Francisco Chapter of the National Assn. of Accountants.

Wilford C. MacDonald of 80 Corte Toluca, Greenbrae, was elected president and William W. Gerecke of 282 Oleander Drive, Terra Linda, has been elected assistant secretary of the chapter.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Safety Plays Are Seldom Executed In Tournaments

Safety plays are seldom executed in tournaments. The extra trick is so important that you're willing to risk the contract for the sake of an additional 30 points.

Not so, however, when the contract is unusually good.

Opening lead — ♣ Q

When this hand was played in the recent national tournament, only 14 of 36 North-South pairs reached the small slam in spades. An experienced declarer would know on looking at the dummy that most pairs would fail to bid the slam.

SLAM GOOD

Therefore making the slam would be good enough; there was no need to try for an overtrick.

With the club opening lead, South should do what he can to safeguard the contract. The correct play is to win the first trick with the ace of clubs and then lead a spade to the ace.

When only small spades drop on the first round of trumps, South gets back to dummy with a heart and leads another trump. This happens to give East a trump trick, but South has no further trouble.

ADVANTAGES

The chief advantage of taking the ace of spades first is that West may have a singleton king of spades. If so it will drop under the ace. South can later get to dummy and finesse through the jack of spades.

South may go down if he finesses with the queen of spades and loses to the singleton king.

If declarer later leads out the queen of spades he will lose a second trump trick to the jack.

NOT SAFE

South is not necessarily safe if he decides to finesse against the jack after losing the first trump trick to the king.

Then West will win two trump tricks if he has the doubleton king-jack of spades.

(Playing the ace first would capture the jack, and South would then lose only one trump trick.)

Playing the ace of spades first gives up a 30-point trick if East has K-x of trumps, but it protects South against a bad guess if West has singleton king or doubleton K-J of spades.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 29, the 241st day of 1962 with 124 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus.

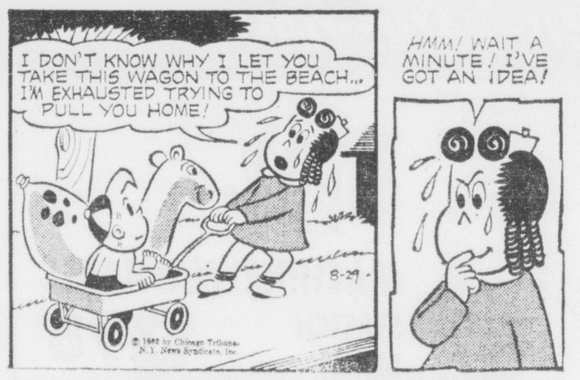

On this day in history:

In 1921, newspaper reports said the Ku Klux Klan tarred and feathered 43 Texans in the past seven days.

In 1960, the premier of Jordan and 11 others died when a time bomb exploded in the premiers office.

A thought for the day: Adolph Hitler said: "Mankind has grown strong in eternal struggles and it will only perish through eternal peace."

'THE LITTLE MIRACLE'

The smallest baby born at St. Joseph Hospital in Albuquerque, N.M., in recent years is shown with her mother, Mrs. J. T. Hambrick of Albuquerque. The tiny girl, named "Little Miracle" by doctors, was born three months premature on May 31 and weighed one pound, 15 ounces and was only 14 inches in length. She was given only a one-in-five chance to live. Today she weighs 4.5 pounds and is termed all right and healthy. (AP Wirephoto)

LUCKY TO BE ARRESTED

17-Year-Old Girl Is Narcotics Addict

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Anne is a dark-eyed 17-year-old whose parents own a small restaurant in Southern California.

If you passed her on the street, she would probably impress you as an attractive young girl blooming into womanhood.

But Anne is a narcotics addict.

"I started on marijuana for about two months because I thought it would be fun," she said. "Then I started using heroin. I got it any way I could."

She was one of the lucky ones. Less than a year after she was "hooked" on heroin, a highly refined derivative of opium, she was arrested.

And she was sent to California's new program — less than a year old — designed especially for youngsters such as Ann. It's a prison that's more of a hospital.

Walter Dunbar, director of the California Department of Corrections, estimates that the state has at least 12,000 heroin addicts. About 4,500 of them are in prison, including nearly 300 women.

Most of them are from Southern California, particularly Los Angeles County, where six million of the state's 17 million residents live.

Contrary to opinion, Dunbar says, addicts are not necessarily dangerous when they have taken the drug. Then they're in a relatively harmless dream world. But sometimes they must steal, rob and even murder to get the money to buy their drug and keep the expensive habit going.

In 1961, the state legislature recognized this by adopting a tough program aimed at peddlers and a hospital-like program directed to the addicts.

Said Dunbar:

"Above all, society has to learn that an addict's problems are so varied and so deeply seated that repeated treatment may be necessary before he ultimately is free of his addiction.

"If society naively expects today's techniques to turn off addiction with a flick of a needle or a single dose of treatment, society is due for disillusionment."

With this attitude, California started its treatment program for narcotics. Currently it is located at Chino State Prison, but later this year it will be transferred to the 96-acre narcotic center at Corona. The Navy gave the land and 67 buildings—formerly a hospital—to the state for the center.

Most of the center will be used to treat 1,900 men but one large building located on a small hill will house 400 women. That is expected to be the ultimate maximum capacity of the treatment center.

Under the 1961 law a person can be sent to the center if he is an addict or in "imminent danger" of addiction.

Once the addict gets there, he is under state supervision for between three and 10 years. This includes no less than six months in the institution and parole supervision for three years.

Ernest Reimer, chief of the program services division for the department of corrections who helped set up the program, said the addicts will be kept busy during their term in the institution.

They will spend an hour a day in a large group discussion of about 40 persons where "they will begin to look at themselves" because "an addict is the kind of guy who finds it painful to look at himself."

Two or three times a week, they will separate into groups of 15 inmates each to talk over the past, the present and the future of the individuals.

Four hours a day they will work or go to school. Reimer said most narcotics addicts have average or above intelligence and can easily learn such skills as upholstering, landscaping and welding.

For an average of 12 to 15 months, that will be the routine. Then the inmates should be about ready to be released back into the world — under strict parole supervision.

Here, again, a unique program takes effect. The parole officer, specially trained to work with addicts, will already have introduced himself to the prisoner's family. He will have about 30 parolees in his jurisdiction.

Once a week the parolee will be called in to take a nailline test, Nailline is a drug that determines whether an addict has stayed off narcotics or is taking them again. Also, there will be sudden, unannounced and unscheduled tests to avoid "backsliding."

Thus far the program has been used to treat 950 persons, including 144 women, but Reimer is not drawing any conclusions about the program from this sampling.

But he says, "We're seeing a switch from heroin to dangerous drugs. Addicts used to get three months in jail. Now they face up to five years in prison.

"We think heroin addiction is not as hopeless as it once was believed to be," he added. "Five years from now one-third of the addicts may be rehabilitated."

Building Site Theft

Louis J. Hunt, San Anselmo building contractor, reported to Mill Valley police Monday that over the weekend $92 worth of lumber, nails and tools had been taken from his construction site on Eton Way in Scott Valley. Hunt lives at 428 The Alameda.

Mill Valley Seeking Playground Helpers

Sixteen noon-time playground supervisors plus substitutes are being sought by the Mill Valley School District to begin work on school opening Sept. 4.

The program was made possible through the recent tax increase approved by voters. Noon time supervisors will be paid $2 per hour with a minimum of $2 for each day's service, Supt. G. Robert McConnell said. Interested persons may apply at the district office at 26 Miller Avenue.

Jaw Breaker Kills Ant

NEW YORK (UPI) — Allied Chemical's General Chemical division has developed a new insecticide known chemically as dodecachloroctahydro-1,3,4,-metheno-2H-cyclo buta (cd) pehtalene to combat the imported fire ant. The company calls the new ant killer "Mirex" for short.

Integration For Schools In Texas Gaining This Year

DALLAS (UPI)—White and Negro students will sit together in a larger number of classrooms next week when 2.3 million Texas children start the fall semester of public school.

Nine years after the U. S. Supreme Court ordered an end to public school segregation, about one fourth of the 1,920,000 white pupils will attend integrated schools. Some 5,000 of the state's 305,000 Negro pupils will be in the same classrooms with white children.

Eight Texas public schools, all in small towns, will admit Negroes to classes with white pupils for the first time this fall. Some 155 Texas districts have ended segregation. About 600 retain separate schools for the two races.

In Dallas, where integration began last fall, only about one in 1,000 Negro students will attend integrated classes. Sixteen Dallas Negro first graders spent last year in classrooms with white students. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People estimates they will be followed by another 30 Negro first-graders next week.

There are an estimated 46,000 Negro students in the Dallas independent school district.

Fort Worth remains the largest Texas city maintaining segregation. About 20 per cent of the city's 74,000 students are Negroes. Federal Judge Leo Brewster has ordered integration of Fort Worth classrooms, but the order is under appeal to the fifth circuit court of appeals in New Orleans and no integration is expected next week.

The eight school systems to integrate for the first time next week represent the largest number to approve the move by local election since the Texas Legislature in 1957 passed a referendum act.

In most cases, voters chose to desegregate local schools rather than spend money for new separate facilities for Negroes.

The change will come next week at Cisco and Eastland, in Eastland County; Goree, Knox County; Kyle, Hays County; Norton and Whiteface, Cochran County; Pettit, Hockley County; and Roaring Springs, Motley County.

Those eight districts had a total of some 230 Negro and 4,100 white pupils last year.

Houston and Austin, like Dallas, will be putting Negroes into classes with white pupils in new grades. They are complying gradually with the Supreme Court ruling of 1954. The first three grades in Houston will be integrated under a "stairstep" program.

State lawmakers in 1957 ordered that state funds be withheld from school districts which desegregate without approval in local elections. At the time, about 125 districts had integrated by school board order.

The eight elections held since last fall favoring desegregation are the most for any year since the referendum law was passed.

Voters in Dallas and Houston turned down integration after federal judge had ordered local boards to desegregate. But Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the penalties of the 1957 law would not apply where desegregation followed a court order.

No school district has been denied state funds nor any school official fined, as state law provides, for integrating against the wishes of voters.

In the field of higher education, integration is moving more rapidly. About two-thirds of the state's TR tax-supported junior and senior colleges have abandoned segregation. Many private colleges admit a few Negroes.

Partner Sues Over Alleged Store Attack

Everett L. Thomas, 33, co-owner of a Novato clothing store, filed a suit in Marin Superior Court yesterday against his partner, who allegedly attacked him with a hammer.

Thomas states in the suit that his partner, Herman Solomon Horowitz, 41, of San Francisco, is subject to "fits of anger" and has threatened him several times. They own Todd's of California in the Nave Shopping Center.

Thomas asks the court to dissolve their partnership, which was formed in 1960. He says his fear of Horowitz caused him to move temporarily from his Novato home to a San Francisco hotel after the hammer attack.

in quick 'n' juicy kabobs

Linkabobs—juicy and quick: thread Smokie Links on skewers with small tomatoes, onions, chunks of pineapple and green pepper; grill about five minutes

Veteran quality-control specialist, William Zimmanck, gives Smokie Links the ultimate test: how do they taste? There are similar smoked sausages, but none quite the same in taste or character. Smokie Links are among our newer specialties, but they fit right into our family's proud tradition of quality.

A TRADITION OF QUALITY FROM OUR FAMILY TO YOURS

Oscar G. Mayer

Have you tasted Smokie Links? They're juicy as steak . . . with a wood-smoky tang that makes you hungry just to think about! Wiener-sized, wiener-shaped, and fully cooked like wieners, too. But just a little smokier, spicier, chewier . . . made of good country-ground beef and pork. Now in the Super Saran Twin Pack, Smokie Links are a perfect take-along meat for cook-outs. That juicy outdoor tang also tastes great indoors . . . for husky lunches or man-size snacks. And isn't it nice to know that all that wonderful flavor comes from nourishing meat that's rich in natural vitamins and complete protein!

San Anselmo Girl Will Study Abroad

By CAROLYN YOUNGER

A once-in-a-lifetime trip is happening for the third time to 14-year-old Nancy Knoles of San Anselmo.

Nancy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Knoles of Brookside Dr., leaves tomorrow for Switzerland, where she will live for a year with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Fankerhauser, and attend Rosenberg College in St. Gallen.

St. Gallen, Nancy explained, is a city 60 miles from Zurich and German is the predominate language. But Nancy, who has been to Switzerland twice before, knows both German and French and plans to take courses in these languages at the college. She also hopes to do some traveling in Italy the week before school starts, and if there is time, to learn to ski during the winter.

When she finishes her freshman year at Rosenberg College, Nancy will be met by her mother and they will return to Marin, where Nancy will enroll in Sir Francis Drake High School, joining her former classmates from Isabel Cook School.

Right now, though, the end of the year seems a long way off, and even though Nancy is looking forward to traveling on her own, she is already beginning to miss her family and friends.

Marin Women

Miss Rada Bride Of James Berry

On Saturday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael, Mildred Laura Rada became the wife of James Waiter Berry Jr. of Belmont.

The bride is the daughter of Charles Rada of San Rafael. The Rev. Edgar Smith officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and peau de soie. Her maid of honor, Anita Guerra of San Francisco, and her bridesmaids, Violet Lee of San Francisco and her sister Carol Rada of San Rafael, all wore frocks of china blue peau de soie.

James W. Berry was best man for his son. The ushers were Bryon Schlief of Belmont and Chuck Rada of San Rafael.

Mildred is the sister of Steve, Chuck, and Carol Rada of San Rafael, and Mrs. John Gibb of San Rafael. Mrs. Anna Rada of Willows is her grandmother.

James is the grandson of Mrs. Lottie Barton of Santa Ana, and the brother of Edward Berry of Belmont and Mrs. Ralph Hornbeck of Los Angeles.

After a two week honeymoon trip to Lake Tahoe, the newlyweds will be at home to friends in Belmont.

Tri Delt Alumnae Name New Officers

MRS. CHRISTENSEN

Adding another activity to her already busy life is Mrs. Robert I. Christensen of San Rafael, the newly-elected president of the Marin Delta Delta Delta sorority alumnae.

During her four years as a Tri Delta alumnae members, Mary Ann Christensen has been reading arts chairman, mass media chairman, secretary, and vice president.

As president, her first project is the annual bridge luncheon and fashion show at the Meadow Club in October. The proceeds of the luncheon will go toward a scholarship for a senior girl chosen from one Marin high school.

Besides her alumnae activities, Mrs. Christensen, wife of Robert Christensen, a research engineer with California Research Corporation, and mother of 4-year-old Robert Jr., is a member of the American Assn. of University Women, and the Women's Auxiliary of the San Francisco Yacht Club. She also enjoys tennis, gardening, sewing, and crewing on her husband's sail boat. Both she and her husband have treveled throughout the United States, Canada, and Mexico, and hope someday to vacation in the Far East.

The other newly-elected officers are Mrs. Robert Keller of San Anselmo, vice president; Mrs. James Miller of Ross, secretary, and Mrs. Rodney Friedman of Tiburon, treasurer.

Roger Hammers Greet A Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hammer of Mobile, Ala., are announcing the birth of a daughter on July 20 in Mobile. She has been named Calli Renee. Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Hammer of San Anselmo are the paternal grandparents.

Luncheon To Follow Baptism Ceremony For Schorer Baby

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

A luncheon will follow the baptism of year-old Sonia Susanna Schorer Sunday. The luncheon will be given by the baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. M. Schorer (Robin Taylor) of Sleepy Hollow. The baptismal rites will take place at 11:30 a. m. at St. Paul's Church in San Rafael. Godparents will be Mr. and Mrs. Milton C. Coburn and Mrs. G. R. Monkhouse of San Francisco.

At the luncheon will be the baby's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. M. Taylor of Sleepy Hollow, Dr. and Mrs. Ira Degenhardt of Ross, Dr. and Mrs. K. D. Garretson of Sleepy Hollow, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stahl of San Rafael, and Messrs. and Mesdames Coburn and Monkhouse and, of course, the Schorers' older daughter, Carina, who is "half past four." The paternal grandmother of the youngsters is Mrs. A. C. Schorer of The Hague, Holland.

This reminds me that the Jack Taylors, the baby's grandfather and grandmother, had their annual open house at their Napa County estate and winery, Mayacamas, in the Napa mountains, Sunday.

MR. AND MRS. ROGER GARETY of Greenbrae (he is Marin County district attorney) celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary at Carmel last weekend. Before that the Garetys were two weeks at their house at Carnelian Bay, Lake Tahoe. With them were their children, Denise, Roger Jr. and Richard, Denise's friend, Wendy Dolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dolan of Terra Linda, and young Roger's pal, Ricky Hecht, son of the Marston Hechts of San Rafael.

MR. AND MRS. C. N. BURTON of San Anselmo have returned to their San Anselmo home after a two weeks' visit with their son, Lt. (j.g.) Gerald Burton, USN, his wife and their three children. Lieutenant Burton, a Navy pilot, is stationed at Barbar's Point. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Judd Worth of San Rafael and was reared in Marin County. The Burtons made the trip by air to the islands to celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary with their son and his family.

MR. AND MRS. LOU ASHE of Fairhills, San Rafael, are leaving soon for Europe. They are flying to New York and on Sept. 5 will board the Queen Mary and sail to England. They'll be some time in London and Lou, a widely known San Francisco attorney, will give lectures for British barristers. Then the Ashes will go to Paris and to Stuttgart, Germany, where Mrs. Ashe, who was born in Vienna, Austria, and educated in Italy, will visit her sister, Mrs. Lily Farzad.

The Ashes will fly to Vienna, then tour Italy and Switzerland, go back to Germany, where Lou will give a series of lectures in Munich at the Academy of Trial Lawyers. The Ashes will buy paintings and sculptures in Spain and Italy. During their two months' absence their home will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Levy.

THE PAUL BRINDELS of Novato gave a bon voyage cocktail party aboard the Italian liner Galileo Ferraris at its port in Oakland. The Brindels are sailing to Italy, where Paul will report on the Vatican Council for several Catholic and secular publications. The ship sailed Tuesday.

At the shipboard party were Messrs. and Mesdames Harry Overly, Lee Wise, Ellis Perryman, Gilmore Nickel, Mrs. George Borgman, Mrs. Lars Benson, Miss Margaret Herdina of Novato; Mrs. Lucille Burchfield of Tiburon, Miss Kharvina Burbeck of Mill Valley and other friends from Oakland and San Francisco.

Couple Plans Fall Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pedersen of San Rafael are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to William Marsh Jolliffe of Colorado.

Barbara was graduated from San Rafael High School and St. Luke's School of Nursing in San Francisco. She is the sister of Walter and Edward Pedersen of San Rafael. Mr. and Mrs. James Fenton and Mrs. M. E. Pedersen of San Francisco are her grandparents.

Bill, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Jolliffe of Ft. Morgan, Colo., was graduated from Wentworth Military Academy Junior College, attended Colorado State College, and is now studying at the San Francisco College of Mortuary Sciences. He is the brother of Patrick Jolliffe of Colorado and Dick Jolliffe of Nebraska. Mrs. Alice May Marsh of Colorado is his grandmother.

Following a fall wedding, the young couple plan to live in Colorado.

Sharon Louise Morphy Weds Dr. Laurie Glenn Fraser

In a recent ceremony in St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael, Sharon Louise Morphy became the bride of Dr. Laurie Glenn Fraser of Palo Alto.

The Rev. Daniel J. McAllister officiated for the afternoon ceremony.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Sharon wore a gown of ivory peau de soie embroidered with seed pearls. The bride's sister, Cathleen Morphy of San Rafael, was maid of honor. Stephanie Seeger and Maureen Brown of San Rafael were bridesmaids. They all wore frocks of melon colored silk organza.

Charles Fraser served as best man for his brother, and Lawrence Fulton of San Rafael, Neal Bandick of Orange, and George Holmes of Walnut Creek were the ushers.

The new Mrs. Fraser, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Morphy of San Rafael, was graduated from Dominican Upper School, College of Marin, and the University of California at Davis. She is the sister of Cathleen Morphy of San Rafael.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ethel Fraser and the late Mr. Charles Fraser of Riverside. He was graduated from Oregon State University and the University of California School of Veterinary Medicine at Davis.

Following a reception at the Meadow Club, the newlyweds left for Carmel and Yosemite. When they return, they will live in Palo Alto.

Teachers Need More Appreciation And Deserve Less Criticism

Teachers will be returning to work soon. From colleges and universities, from vacations and summer jobs, they'll come streaming back to their classrooms. Another school year begins.

Do you ever wonder why they return? It's not for the salary, I'm sure. The majority of teachers could earn considerably more money in other types of work. And it is not because teaching is easy. Teaching is a hard, frustrating job. I think they return because they love our children. They genuinely want to help them. For that I'm grateful.

Teachers have been criticized of late. The scolding started suddenly when Russia sent up its first sputnik. Remember what happened? The politicians in Washington had a field day, blaming the schools. Even President Eisenhower made unfavorable comments. I think the gentlemen were covering up. They criticized teachers to keep people from noticing their own deficiencies. Our sputnik lag certainly wasn't the teachers' fault.

We parents scold teachers a lot, too, when our youngsters fail. It isn't because they're dull or lazy. Not at all. It is because "their dumb teachers didn't teach them right." Have you noticed? I hope in the year ahead, we'll all try to be fair and helpful. I hope we'll assume teachers are our partners in raising our children. Any other idea is wrong.

No other country has so large a group of devoted, well-trained teachers. No other nation has public schools which can compare with ours — not even Russia. Welcome back to work, teachers! It'll be nice to see you again.

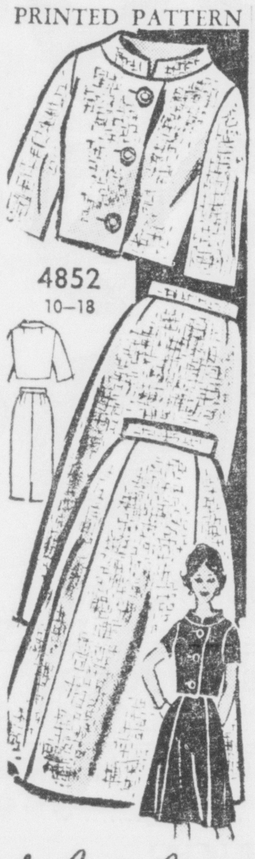

READER'S FORUM

(Q) "Are we still losing good teachers to industry? Would better pay help to keep them in their classrooms?"

Miss H.K.

(A) For most parts of our country the answer to both questions is yes. There has been some improvement in teachers' salaries, but not enough.

Jokes About Snoring Are Endless, Not Very Funny

The comic literature about snoring is endless. Plays, movies, vaudeville skits and comics in general have poked fun at snoring down through the years.

There's a good chance that there's a snorer in your family. If so, you are well aware that it's not very funny.

It has been estimated that one American out of eight snores.

The assorted hisses, gurgles, buzzes, snorts and raspings of the snoring nuisance hold the seeds for the ruination of an ostensibly happy marriage.

For the most part, snoring is generated while breathing either in or out during sleep by several structures in the nose and throat. The sounds are due to vibrations in the soft palate and other soft structures of the throat in response to inflowing and outflowing air. The frequency of the vibrations depends on the size, density and elasticity of the affected tissues and on the force of the air flow.

A number of causes of snoring can be helped and even cured. Most cases of snoring in children are cured by removal of enlarged adenoids and tonsils. A blocked nose may lead to mouth breathing and snoring. Sometimes this can be corrected by minor surgery. If snoring is caused by nasal congestion due to the common cold, sinus disease or hay fever, nose drops or antihistamines sometimes can bring relief to the sufferer and may stop snoring. Many people snore only when sleeping on the back. Any method that keeps the sleeper on his side or face can help.

There are factors that may affect the tone of tissues of the throat and result in snoring. These include too much smoking, overwork, fatigue, obesity and general poor health.

FOUR OUTSTANDING FEATURES — AN UNPARALLELED ACHIEVEMENT

Nowhere can you find, between two covers, the equal of this magnificent art treasury.

First of all, it contains 216 full-color, really breath-taking reproductions of the great masterpieces of painting. This is far more than in any other single work known to us.

Secondly, a staff of famous authorities have written for each painting a Commentary on the masterpiece and on the artist and his times to help you clearly understand the painting itself, its points of greatness, and the intention of the artist.

Third, there is incorporated into the Treasury a Picture History of Art from its earliest beginnings down to today. This work (now selling separately at $15.00 in all bookstores) is itself illustrated with 500 more reproductions of foremost works of art, and provides still deeper understanding of the artists and art masterpieces, and their position in the history of art.

Fourth, as an added bonus, each Portfolio (of the eighteen Portfolios which make up the Treasury) contains one giant Brushmark print magnificently reproducing an art masterpiece in glowing full color — each suitable for framing! There are eighteen such giant prints in all in your Treasury, each worth $3.00 and more if purchased in any art store!

THE "CHANGE-A-PICTURE" FRAMES

Paintings are meant to be hung on a wall for study and enjoyment at any passing moment — and so you will need frames for your giant Brushmark prints.

For this reason there will be made available to you also, as part of this tremendous offering, the extremely ingenious Change-a-Picture frames, each of solid, raw oak to blend with any decor. Each frame is meant for exhibiting one of your giant prints — but each will also STORE up to nine prints in all! And each frame is so designed that you can change in a matter of seconds the picture in it, so that you can exhibit a different picture in each frame on your wall every day, if you desire!

Don't lose out! Get your first superb Portfolio at the nearest one of our supermarkets TODAY—almost as a gift! It costs you only 29¢ with three 50¢ Publisher's Discount Coupons!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Danish Foes Of Cigarettes Go To Children With Anti-Smoking Drive

VAN DELLEN

The rising incidence of lung cancer prompted the Danish Cancer society to step up its anti-smoking campaign. The group decided to begin where smoking starts—among school children. A nation-wide poster contest was announced —open to every school child and a few professionals.

Cash prizes were offered for the best placards describing the hazards of tobacco. About 6,400 posters were submitted to the judges and the top 10 were exhibited in Copenhagen's town hall, along with many others. Some of the pictures were awesome enough to scare the nicotine out of a confirmed chain smoker.

A STUDY OF 445 French mothers having their first baby disproved an old belief that deliveries are more difficult in athletic women because of the increased size of the pelvic muscles. An exercise training program of six to eight weeks was aimed at facilitating delivery. The women with strong athletic backgrounds were the most successful graduates of the program. They were better able to augment their respiratory capacity so that they have an easier time.

COLLEGE LIFE is not all beer and skittles. A 10 year health study by the University of Wisconsin showed that psychiatric problems ranked third among ailments in the student population. The investigators suggest that the availability of psychiatric services may have brought to light a higher incidence of emotional problems than would have been detected ordinarily.

Be that as it may, it is well that these young people are sensible enough to seek help when their stresses mount unbearably, rather than to try to muddle through.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

BACKACHE FROM GOLF

Mrs. F. writes: I have a problem that makes me mad. Every time I play golf I get a burning, pinching pain in the middle of my back. I have to lie down on a heating pad to get relief. Will I have to give up golf?

REPLY

There are not many muscular, fibrous, or joint conditions that will force a golfer to give up the game, provided the source of pain is known. Consult your physician for an examination, including a detailed analysis of what brings on the pain while playing golf. X-rays may be needed.

ACNE AND FOODS

E. A. writes: I read that sweets and fried foods don't make acne worse. I've been told for years that they do. Is this new idea proved?

REPLY

The cause of acne varies and food is only part of the picture. More important are skin bacteria and changes in the oil secreting glands. Some youngsters find that sweets or fried foods aggravate the condition but do not necessarily bring pimples and blackheads.

THYMUS GLAND

W. G. writes: Can an enlarged thymus gland have any fatal effects at puberty?

REPLY

The gland is large at birth and tends to shrink thereafter. For example, if the enlargement were cancerous it could prove serious. In addition, there appears to be a relationship between myasthenia gravis and the thymus.

INTESTINAL GAS

R. K. writes: Can on overabundance of intestinal gas lead to a serious disorder?

REPLY

Now and then this symptom is a sign of a serious disorder. But the usual causes are swallowing air, bolting food, and eating gas forming foods.

HEART WARNINGS

F. U. writes: Are there any warnings of an impending heart attack in a person of 61 —say a year or two ahead of time?

REPLY

Among the omens are rising blood pressure, a high cholesterol level, an enlarged heart, and obesity.

Today's Health Hint — Don't entrust your health to an unqualified person.

Spacemen Land At Set Because They Want To

By JOHN BARBOUR

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—U.S. astronauts land their spacecraft at sea, not because they have to, but because they want to.

The Mercury spacecraft which have carried the first U.S. astronauts into space could have been brought down on land without harming the astronaut, U.S. space officials say.

But they are really designed for sea landing, and the reasons are simple.

The sea is a relatively flat surface and visibility is unobstructed by hills or valleys, forests or buildings.

Naturally it is easier to find a small item like a spacecraft on the sea than it would be to find it in the crannies and folds of the land.

The sea has another natural advantage. It's softer. The fluid surface absorbs some of the shock of landing.

So far no American astronaut has had to get out of his capsule and parachute down to earth. The space capsules of Project Mercury are not designed to allow this anyway.

There is another advantage on the sea. There is unlimited free access to the spacecraft from every point on the compass. Ships riding to an astronaut rendezvous don't have to depend on roads on the open sea, they draw their bearing and head directly on it.

These are obvious advantages that sea landings have over ground landings. There is one more. The sea is bigger. Should the spacecraft come to earth beyond or short of its landing target, there is more room for error.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm Scott Carpenter landed more than 250 miles beyond the intended spot, but there was no danger he would plummet to earth in a city or inhabited area.

The landing strip under the path of his spacecraft was thousands of miles long.

Soviet spacecraft make their landings on hard ground, but sometimes the cosmonauts parachute down to earth apart from their spacecraft.

The Soviet decision to make hard landings was likely dictated by the tremendous sparsely populated land area of the Soviet Union, and the fact that it would need great numbers of surface vessels to support landings at sea.

The United States, a maritime power, has the ships it needs to support sea landings, and also has a more densely populated, smaller land area.

Later U.S. spacecraft—the Gemini two-man space capsules — will land on the ground. But these spacecraft will be more sophisticated, be capable of better control during the earth descent, and even have a wing of sorts so that it can make a pinpoint, airplane type of landing.

Even then, U.S. space officials must face the ever-present possibility that in an emergency, they might not be able to choose the best landing site.

They also know that water covers some 70 per cent of the earth's surface, and in the Southern Hemisphere under the track of U.S. spacecraft, water covers eight-tenths of the surface.

'Profit' Likely To Become More Controversial

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit seems likely to become an even more controversial word in the months ahead.

Management makes two words of it—profit squeeze. It complains of making less on each unit of production and sales.

Labor tends to regard any profit rise as an indication that workers aren't getting their fair share of the fruits of industry. Labor cites the still rising total of profits as showing management can pay more in wages.

Government regards profit as a good thing—it provides tax receipts, for one thing—but not if a rise in profits comes from an inflationary rise in prices or from more unemployment brought on by cost-cutting automation.

The profit trend in many industries just now depends on two things: Continuing recovery from the last recession rather than a dip into another one; and the next round of wage negotiations, with top union officials plugging for a 35-hour work week at the same pay as for the present 40 hours.

The steel industry, for example, is complaining of the profit squeeze. This was born from rising labor costs due to the fringe benefits granted last spring and the inability to raise prices because of government opposition at first, and later because of increased competition from foreign mills and new materials in the United States.

The steel labor contract can be reopened next year on the question of higher wages. By that time the mills should be producing more as the last of stocks consumers built up as a hedge against a possible strike this year are used up.

But if wages go up and prices can't, there'll be even more of a profit squeeze. Competition from foreign mills and from other materials making inroads on steel's markets could make price hiking hard.

Part of the controversy over profits can very well swirl about what role the government plays next year if the steelworkers seek higher wages.

The profit question is further clouded by the fact that, with a few exceptions, each year since the war has seen the total of profits by all industries and services rise. And even in times of recessions some companies will set record profits.

Part of the dollar rise in the total of profits since the war is due to monetary inflation. The dollar totals are higher but they buy less in the market place, whether it be materials or labor.

Part of the rise in total profits is due to the even higher climb of the total of sales. More people are buying more things. They are paying out more for them.

But many companies complain that while their sales totals have climbed their profits either have not risen in the last year or two or have done so at a much slower pace than sales.

This is the profit squeeze. It means a lower margin of profit on sales. It means production, transportation, merchandising costs have risen faster than have prices and profits are less.

Many people are willing to leave this problem in management's lap.

But if the profits don't justify it, industry won't expand. If profit prospects are poor, new ventures will be shelved.

The result is a squeeze on companies and their stockholders. It's also a squeeze on jobs. They don't increase as the population jump requires. Some jobs disappear because unprofitable companies fold.

Thus management argues when it tries to restore status to the word profit.

Nine Students Spend Summer In Mexico

MILLBRAE (UPI)—Nine Millbrae fifth and sixth graders are taking part in an exchange program with Mexico this summer. There is no language barrier for the American children for they have been speaking Spanish since kindergarten.

Their participation in the exchange and ability to speak Spanish is the result of Millbrae School Superintendent Earl Kuhn's belief that "the surest way to establish peace in the world is for people to get to know each other."

Kuhn, superintendent of the Millbrae district since shortly after his graduation from Stanford in 1934, feels it is important for the United States to work for better relations with Latin America "if for no other reason than its nearness."

He added Spanish to the district's curriculum in 1954 and today it has a staff of three fulltime Spanish teachers and a consultant.

The consultant, John Adamson, left for Mexico with the nine children on June 28 and was at the opening ceremonies for Mexico's first summer school.

The school was set up under the direction of the Intercambio Estudianti de Las Americas, the Mexican government bureau which administers exchange programs. The nine Millbrae youngsters were among the first class in the school.

Kuhn said Adamson wrote him that the Mexicans feel the elementary student exchange program is highly important to U.S.-Mexican relations. On hand for the opening ceremonies at the summer school were the head of the Intercambio, two representatives of the governor of the State of Hidalgo, and three department heads of University of Mexico.

The American children return home in September, and in November a group of Mexican youngsters will come to Millbrae to attend school.

Kuhn has also helped to bring foreign college students here to study at City College of San Mateo. Among them were Chan Pak from Seoul, Korea, a pharmacy major who recently graduated from University of California and a political science student from Jordan, Andhisham Abousaid.

Kayak Sailors Are Hard To See

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Fred Hulick and Edward Vybiral get a thrill from boating on the Delaware River in a kayak built by Hulick in his spare time.

"The Eskimos cover the frames of their kayaks with sealskins, but I settled for fiber glass," Hulick said. His sleek little craft is 17½ feet long.

The most challenging and dangerous portions of their long trips are shooting the rapids in the upper reaches of the river. Heavy traffic of large vessels downriver also keeps them on their toes.

"We're so low in the water," says Vybiral, "that we're practically invisible from the bridge of a ship or a tug."

Chicken Checker Finds Funny Fact

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) — Chickens recognize job seniority, according to a Kansas State University scientist.

A. M. Guhl, professor of zoology, said the seniority rights of hens was demonstrated in a biological experiment in which a new bird was added to a flock every two days and the longest resident was removed at the end of two weeks.

During the first two days, he said, the new hen usually was at the bottom of the "pecking order." But as time passed and its superiors were removed while newcomers were added, the bird usually achieved top rank by its last day.

"Of course, there were some individuals who rose to top rank in the first two days and one individual who never got off the bottom level," Guhl said.

Stray Dog Presses Limit Of Patience

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — Williams Barksdale didn't complain right away to police when a neighbor's dog tore open a door-screen to enter his home.

But two days later he called them when he found a large collie dog asleep in his son's bed and 5-year-old Bill curled up on the floor.

PITCHFORD, Administrator of the estate of ANNA CHRISTOFFERSON, Deceased, FIRST DOE, SECOND DOE, THIRD DOE, FOURTH DOE, FIFTH DOE, SIXTH DOE, also all other persons unknown claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in that real property described in the complaint adverse to the plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, Defendants.

No. 36327

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA SEND GREETINGS TO:

R. P. PITCHFORD, Administrator of the Estate of ANNA CHRISTOFFERSON, Deceased, FIRST DOE, SECOND DOE, THIRD DOE, FOURTH DOE, FIFTH DOE, SIXTH DOE, also all other persons unknown claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real property described in the Complaint adverse to plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, defendants:

YOU ARE HEREBY DIRECTED TO APPEAR and answer the Complaint in an action as above, brought against you in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Marin, within ten (10) days (exclusive of the day of service) after service upon you of this Summons, if served on you within said County; or within thirty (30) days, if served elsewhere.

This action is brought to determine the adverse claims to and clouds upon the title to the real property described in the complaint herein and hereafter described, by the said plaintiff, who claims that by herself, or by herself and her predecessors in interest, she has been in the actual, exclusive and adverse possession of such property continuously for more than ten (10) years next preceding the filing of said complaint, and paid the taxes levied and assessed thereon, and which said real property is situate in the County of Marin, State of California, and more particularly described as follows, towit:

Commencing at the westerly corner of Lot numbered 66, running thence in a north easterly direction along the boundary line between Lot 65 and 66, 555.01 feet thence in a southeasterly direction parallel with the northerly line of Lot 66, 476.26 feet more or less to a point in the westerly line of the private road shown on the map hereinafter referred to which point is 199.75 feet south of the easterly corner of said lot 66 thence along the westerly line of the private road to the intersection thereof with the northerly line of the county road thence along the northerly and northwesterly line of the county road to the point of commencement.

Being the southerly portion of Lot No. 66 as shown and delineated on that certain map entitled "Map No 1, Point Reyes Land Company, filed in the office of the County Recorder of said Marin County, said parcel containing 4.16 acres more or less.

and you are hereby notified that unless you appear and answer, as above required, the said plaintiff will take judgment quieting title in herself, and will take judgment for any money or damages in the complaint demanded, as arising upon contract, or will apply to the Court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND THE SEAL OF THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF MARIN, this 3rd day of August, 1962.

Wade Thomas, St. Anselm's $34,500
Four bedrooms, 3 baths, rumpus room. Separate entrance to one of the bedrooms make it an ideal teen-age or in-law apartment. Nice grounds include professionally landscaped terrace (covered) and an oak-shaded patio. Pretty wooded setting, splendid family home. San Anselmo.

Attractive Greenbrae Home $37,950
Fine residential location, wooded and quiet; well built home, 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, dining room, all decorated in good taste. Oaks, trees on slope behind secluded patio. Professionally landscaped.

Top of Del Mesa $65,000
On top of the world—rimrock—the dream site selected by the late Frank Howard Allen and improved with a rustic guest cottage of heavy shake and timbered construction. 360-degree views over all of the bay. A fortune invested in fieldstone walls and attractive patio gardens, ½-acre site, absolute privacy. Huge living-dining room, 1 bedroom, 2 baths, maid's room and bath, studio; one of the great BBQ patios in Marin.

Kent Woodlands $71,500

Distinguished, Beautiful $79,500

Del Mesa $98,500
Authentic Spanish architecture and features offer appeal and charm here: an oak-shaded courtyard for entry and parking; tile roof, tile floor in entrance hall, and balconies of heavy timbers. Bay and mountain views. All the rooms are spacious; banquet-sized dining room, 4 large bedrooms, 2 baths; rumpus room, ½ bath, laundry room, below. Three-car garage. An Allen exclusive.

Dramatic $100,000
Marvelous marine views down the bay, including two bridges and the skyline of both the East Bay and San Francisco. Top marine property, with deep-water dock. Adobe construction in the home, large rooms, delightful glass-walled patio with built-in Chinese oven. Separate dining room, 3 bedrooms. San Rafael.

Luxurious $105,000
Spacious rooms and luxurious appointments offer gracious living in this early American home. Huge country kitchen, large corner fireplace with corner window seat opposite. Cabinet-concealed appliances, endless storage. Fireplaces in living room, master bedroom, upstairs bedroom. Swimming pool, well landscaped grounds. Quality, good taste throughout. Ross.

Tot, 3, Learning About Life Early

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—A 3-year-old Bradenton child was with her father when he pulled up at the bank's drive-in window and deposited some money.

As they drove away, the child asked why he didn't get any money. "I didn't come here to get money," he said. "We came to put money in."

"Mommy always gets money when she comes here," the child said.

Marin County Lagging Behind Bay Area In Construction

Building construction, as indicated by building permits issued, in the nine-county Bay Area for July was the second highest of the year.

All counties except Marin showed increases over June. Marin was down 12.8 per cent. It was the highest month of 1962 for Napa and Sonoma Counties.

Marin is still lagging behind the first seven months of 1961 in total construction by 6.8 per cent, but it is almost 20 per cent ahead in residential activity—37.7 per cent in number of permits.

Real estate loans recorded an increase in Marin of almost 26 per cent over July, 1961.

MRS. LILA M. HABERMAN, assistant secretary of the Marin County Savings and Loan Assn. in San Rafael, will attend the fourth annual American Savings and Loan Institute School for Executive Development at the University of Washington from Sept. 2 to 14.

The school is the educational and professional organization for personnel in savings associations and cooperative banks and offers specialized courses of study.

MOVEMENT OF SOME equipment of Dumont Manufacturing Corp. is already under way to the plant of the parent firm H. I. Thompson Fiber Glass Co. in Southern California. We hear that about 20 employees have already signed up for a transfer.

COLOR TELEVISION has been making inroads to American homes slowly but steadily.

What is said to be the first easy-to-build color television receiver in kit form has been introduced by Transvision Electronics of Yonkers, N.Y., specialists in TV kits. The new 21-inch color kit is produced under license from RCA who has pre-wired, adjusted and tested all critical circuits used.

The complexity and delicate instrumentation of color TV has been a barrier to its adaptation into kit form. This one is claimed to be an easy job, even for those without electronics experience.

Prices start at $419.

Geysers Power Plant Trip Set

A power plant utilizing steam from geysers to produce electricity will be viewed by members of the Greater Novato Chamber of Commerce during a trip sponsored by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. Sept. 20.

A bus will leave the chamber office on Grant Avenue in Novato at 8:30 a.m. and proceed to the plant, located 25 miles northeast of Geyserville.

Reservations for the tour, which is expected to end around 4 p.m. the same day, will be limited to 35 and may be made through the chamber office.

Blindness Group Offers Booklet

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has made available a free booklet entitled "Your Child's Health Record."

It has space for recording a child's immunizations, tests, allergies, and other notes. The book may be obtained by writing the National Society, Dept. N.P., 16 East 40th Street, New York 16, N.Y.

George To Do Brain Work For Others

George, the county's IBM-1401 "electronic brain," proved himself a business hustler yesterday by drumming up $20,000 worth of chores per year that he's able and eager to do for the City and County of San Francisco.

Marin County supervisors promptly voted to let him flex his muscles.

Asst. Auditor Michael Mitchell told the board that San Francisco wants to "purchase time" on George on a basis of cost plus 10 per cent overhead. The data processing bureau has accordingly offered two hours of "prime shift time" and six hours of off-shift time daily, working out at 400 hours a year.

Mitchell said San Francisco will provide its own operators. The time will be made available at mutual convenience.

Dinner For Goldwyn Wasn't On The Point

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When a community gathers to honor a leading citizen on his 80th year, the pattern is pretty much the same everywhere.

Well, perhaps it's a little bit different in Hollywood, as judged by this week's banquet for Samuel Goldwyn. The difference may be that Hollywood declines to take such things seriously.

Maybe that's all right. Maybe that's better than lengthy oratory. But sometimes in the headlong dash for brevity and wit the essence of the occasion is overlooked.

This is but a minor comment on what was otherwise an imposing evening. It started in a reception room, where the notables were warming up for the occasion like ballplayers getting ready for a World Series.

David Selznick asked solicitously of Mrs. Goldwyn how her husband was bearing up under the celebration. "He's nervous as a cat, but otherwise he's fine," she said.

George Jessel, toastmaster as always, said he was at the North Pole entertaining troops the day before, returned to find he needed jokes for 51 introductions. Harpo Marx said the occasion was so auspicious he might break his silence (he did).

Walter Brennan, Randolph Scott and Fred Astaire were locked in one conversation. Gene Kelly, Danny Kaye and Jimmy Stewart in another. Another notable trio: James Durante, Ann-Margret and Eddie Fisher.

Jack Benny was chatting with Richard Nixon. Irene Dunne and Jayne Mansfield also were present, though not together.

Goldwyn, looking tanned and fit, was in a high-level conversation with Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York.

The scrolls and the gags began at 9 o'clock and continued for two hours. Generally, the politicians stuck to the scrolls and the comedians to the gags.

Durante, Frank Sinatra and Eddie Fisher sang. Among the comedians, Jack Benny was the most rambling, Bob Hope was strangely subdued. Berle set the tone for the gags, declaring that Goldwyn had a record "of taking stars and making unknowns of them."

Goldwyn took it all with a wide grin. At the end he rose for a brief speech of thanks: "I had a great deal to say, but I just can't say it."

So the evening was over with a lot of things unsaid. No one really put a finger on the greatness of the man.

Report On County Budget Tomorrow

A report to the people of Marin on the 1962-63 county budget will be given tomorrow from 9 to 10 a.m. on KTIM's Sounding Board. Guests of Kitty Oppenheimer, moderator, will be County Administrator Alan Bruce, Supervisor George Ludy, Assistant Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell and a fourth panelist to be announced.

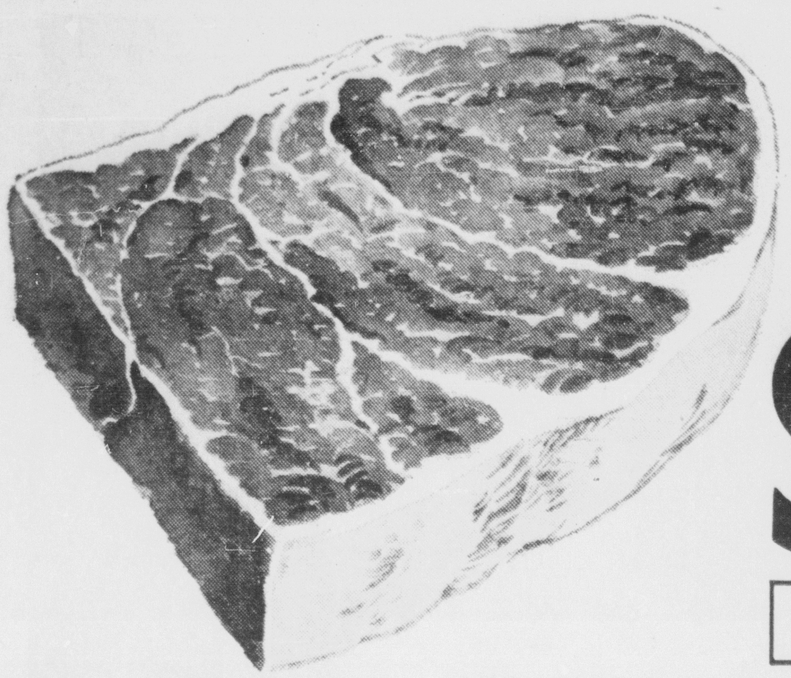

Questions are invited from listeners during the broadcast. The program will be repeated Sunday at 12:30 p.m. via tape-recording.

A bouquet for Ames
"These testimonials are real!"

Reading these testimonials from customers of Ames Ford from all over the Bay Area, I was intrigued. I decided to check on a station wagon and found Tom Edwards and the management really extend themselves in every way to satisfy their customers.

Carnation Fried Chicken with Cream Gravy

(Makes 4 servings)

⅓ cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
¾ cup seasoned flour
1 cup shortening for frying

CREAM GRAVY
2 tablespoons drippings
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
1 cup water
⅛ cup chopped green onion
⅛ cup chopped green pimiento
Salt and pepper to taste

Dip chicken pieces in Carnation, then in flour. Brown in skillet in melted shortening. Continue frying for 40 to 45 minutes or until tender.

Cream Gravy: Combine drippings and flour in saucepan. Slowly add Carnation and water which have been mixed together. Stir until smooth. Heat to just below boiling point, stirring constantly. Add onions and pimiento. Season to taste. Serve with fried chicken.
